PRESIDENT IN DEATH PERIL

In Pathway of Landing Airplane, Is Saved by Skill of Alert Pilot

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 15.—President Wilson had a narrow escape from death, or at least serious injury, shortly after noon today, when he stood directly in the path of a Handley-Page high bombing airplane which was making a landing at the polo field in Potomac Park.

The pilot, by a quick and skillful twist of the great machine, brought it up and passed over the President's head at a distance of not more than eight feet.

The great crowd that was watching the exhibition flight of the largest aircraft in the country gasped when it was seen that the President was in danger of being bowled over. The machine was not more than two feet off the ground and scarcely twenty-five feet in front of the President when it swooped to the ground.

The sudden rise over the President's head was said by experts to be a remarkable exhibition of control by the pilot.

Mrs. Wilson, who was with the President, became so unnerved at what seemed to be the President's close call, that she insisted that he return to the White House at once. He left soon after amid ringing cheers by the crowd.

Before the flight the President displayed keen interest in the machine, which is capable of carrying fifteen persons. He started to climb into it, but apparently remembering the severe injury that resulted when he explored the interilor of the tank Brittanica several months ago, changed his mind and turned back. The demonstration was witnessed by cabinet members and many department heads.

MORE SICK AND WOUNDED MEN LANDED IN U. S.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Sick and wounded men numbering 724 were landed in the United States from the American Expeditionary Forces during the week ending November 8, the surgeon-general of the army announced today. These men have been distributed to the various reconstruction hospitals throughout the country.

YANKEE AIRMAN LANDS IN COLOGNE ON RHINE

London, Nov. 15.—An American airman landed on Thursday at Cologne, Germany, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen today.

Cologne is in the Rhine valley, forty-eight miles east of the Belgian border. It is an important railway centre.

TO HASTEN U.S. TROOPS RETURN

Everything Possible Will Be Done to Expedite Home-Coming, Says Baker

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Everything possible will be done by Secretary of War Baker to expedite the return to this country of the men in the American expeditionary forces. The Secretary so informed General Pershing today.

London, oNv. 15—(2 p. m.).—Belgian troops were ordered to march upon Antwerp today and occupy the city, said a French wireless dispatch.

London, Nov. 15 (2:12 p. m.).—The German warship Koenigsberg, which put out from a German port on the 13th with armistice delegates from the revolutionary faction on board, was met by British warships this afternoon and escorted to a certain point at sea where Admiral Beatty of the British Navy received the German delegates' proposals for carrying out the naval terms of the armistice, it is learned here. Execution of the naval terms of the armistice will be arranged at the British naval base in th Firth of Forth, Scotland.

Washington, Nov. 15. — A strong movement among Democratic Senators to secure the appointment of Vice-President Marshall on the American delegation to the peace conference developed today. Marshall has not been consulted by those who are urging his appointment, but if he were named by the President it is certain he would not decline to serve.

Paris, Nov. 15.—Swiss sources report more outbreaks in Vienna. The extreme Socialists are clamoring for the institution of a radical Socialist republic. A mob stormed the Parliament building Wednesday and demanded that a Socialist republic like that set up in Germany be established. Shots were fired and a score of persons were wounded. The new national flag was torn down and a red flag flown.

Paris, Nov. 15.—A number of the members of the Chamber of Deputies have given notice that they will introduce resolutions urging the allies and the United States to convene an international tribunal for the trial of the former German Kaiser as the instigator of the war and the person chiefly responsible for the cruelties and ravage perpetrated by the German troops.

HOLLAND NOW IN FEAR OF REVOLT

Government Issues Appeal to People, Warning Against Socialist Agitation

The Hague, Nov. 15.—The government of Holland has issued a general proclamation of appeal, calling upon the people to co-operate with the existing powers in maintaining order.

The proclamation characterizes present conditions as reaching a state of grave crisis.

The proclamation denounces the extreme Socialist agitation and declares that the government is determined to resist any attempt to seize power or to subvert the existing authority.

'L' EMPLOYES RECEIVE $1,000,000 IN BACK PAY

About $1,000,000 in back pay will be distributed to Elevated employes today and tomorrow, under the award of the National War Labor Board on October 1, retroactive to June 15. It will average $100 to $125 for each employe. Election dates of the Boston Carmen's Union are as follows: Nominations for primaries next Monday in Fay Hall, 8 a. m. to 8 p. m.; primaries, Monday, November 25; election December 2.

ALLIED MILITARY MEN GO TO SPA TOMORROW

London, Nov. 15 (11:32 a. m.).—French, British and American military missions will leave for Spa (the seat of German army headquarters) on November 16, said a French wireless dispatch today. The American mission will contain six officers and nineteen soldiers, and will be headed by General Rhodes.

STONEHAM TREASURER ARRAIGNED FOR THEFT

Wesley P. Grey, town treasurer of Stoneham, was arraigned before Judge Dubuque in the Superior Court at Cambridge today on a charge of stealing $8,500 from the town of Stoneham between January 1, 1914, and October 16 of this year. Grey pleaded not guilty and bail of $20,000 was requested by District Attorney Nathan Tufts. H. H. Patten, attorney for Grey, secured permission to go over the treasurer's books with an auditor.

TO GIVE BASKET FUND PART OF INCOME

Earnings for 15 Minutes Will Help American Buy Christmas Dinner for Poor

The Boston AMERICAN'S idea for everybody to give the amount of his or her income for fifteen minutes to the Christmas Basket Fund has caught on in Boston.

Throughout the day people called up and announced their intention of adopting this suggestion. As soon as the present War Drive is over plans are laid by the employes and heads of several of the department stores and manufacturing plants in Greater Boston to make contributions to the fund on the basis of this idea.

When one thinks of it the income of anybody but a multimillionaire, for fifteen minutes, is a small matter and no one would feel the loss. But

START DRIVE ON 'OLD GUARD' IN SENATE

Norris Resolution Would Abolish Seniority Right to Committee Places

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The expected fight by the Progressives in the Senate to wrest control from the reactionary element when the Senate is reorganized by the Republicans, was opened this afternoon when Senator Norris of Nebraska gave notice that he would present a resolution to amend the staning rules of the Senate when it meets again on Monay.

Senator Norris was prevented from introducing his resolution this afternoon by a filibuster led by Senator Penrose, that occupied the morning hour. The filibuster was aimed not only at the Norris resolution, but also at the emergency food stimulation bill, with its wartime prohibition rider, which now has gone over until tomorrow.

Senator Norris declined this afternoon to make known the contents of his resolution. It is known, however to provide that committee chairmen shal be selected under a rule of fitness and not by the old seniority rule.

The resolution is aimed directly at such Republican leaders as Senators Penrose, Smoot, Lodge and Brandegee, who will become chairmen of the Senate's most important committees if the rule continues in effect when the Republicans organize the Senate.

In his fight for enactment of the resolution Norris will be joined by Senators Kenyon, Borah, La Follette, Gronna, Johnson, and a half dozen other Progressive Republicasn.

STORROW QUITS PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE

Meeting of Original 100 Members Called by Governor for Wednesday

James J. Storrow today sent a letter of resignation to Governor McCall, quitting his office as chairman of the Public Safety Committee of Massachusetts. In accepting the resignation Governor McCall called a final meeting of the original 100 members from whom the committee was formed, to take place next Wednesday at 10 a. m., for final action in disbanding.

"While peace has not been declared," said Mr. Storrow in his letter, "it seems clear that the war emergency which you had in mind in creating the Public Safety Committee is at an end."

He thanked the local branches for their work, and the Governor for his "confidence and unwavering support."

In his reply, Governor McCall agreed that the emergency was over, and said that the wor kof the committee "merits the gratitude of the people of the Commonwealth and of the country."

Mr. Storrow's resignation follows those of Henry B. Endicott, executive manager of the committee and Food Administrator; A. C. Ratshesky, James J. Phelan and Mrs. Nathaniel B.

DEEDS OF VALOR BY MEN OF THE 26TH

A list of more than 1,000 citations of New England heroes, members of the 26th division which served in France under Major General Clarence R. Edwards, was announced at Northeastern headquarters today. Practically every regiment and detachment in the Yankee division comes in for some share of the honors as a result of heroic feats in battle on different sectors in France.

The general order follows:

Headquarters 26th Division, American Expeditionary Force.
France, October 16, 1918.
General Orders.
No. 88.

1. During the attack directed against Vaumire on the morning of February 27, 1918, Corporal Herman Gustafson, Company C, 102nd Machine Gun Battalion, directed and controlled the fire of his gun in the Balcon Groupe de Combat with coolness and resourcefulness. While receiving heavy shell fire, his gun became jammed by a faulty cartridge, and there being no tools available he dismounted the hot barrel with his bare hands, adjusted a fresh barrel and continued the firing, although wounded at that time by a shell splinter.

The division commander congratulates this soldier on his bravery and devotion to duty.

2. On the morning of February 27, 1918, an artillery action was directed at the Belvidere Groupe de Combat which caused the collapse of a quarry which was occupied by members of Company C, 101st Infantry, in such a manner as to kill instantly two men and pin down several others under falling

EDWARDS TELLS OF GLORY WON BY 26TH

Washington, Nov. 15. — "La Belle Division Americaine" was the title bestowed by the French upon the New England (26th) Division, whose former commander, General Clarence R. Edwards, is today awaiting orders at Washington.

It was in a tone vibrating with pride that General Edwards spoke today of his "stout-hearted boys," as he called them.

The New Englanders enjoy the distinction not only of being the first complete American division to land in France but of having been on the

LOWELL TO HONOR CARDINAL ON SUNDAY

Lowell, Nov. 15.—Lowell citizens headed by Mayor James B. Casey are planning to pay tribute to Cardinal O'Connell Sunday, when a big parade will be held in his honor. There will be exercises at the dedication of the Cardinal O'Connell parkway and a bust of the cardinal will be presented to his native city.

REFUSE WARRANT FOR DRIVER OF DEATH AUTO

A warrant for the arrest of Michael Lynch of River street, Hyde Park, charging Lynch with killing six-year old James Stevens of No. 317 Wood avenue, Hyde Park, last night, was refused in West Roxbury Court today. Lynch was operating a motor truck which struck the child.

DISORGANIZED GERMAN TROOPS SPREADING TERROR IN BELGIUM

WILD DISORDER REPORTED BEHIND GERMAN LINES

At the British Front, Nov. 15.—The demoralization of the German army is increasing hourly. Brussels apparently has been given over to mob rule. Officers are being shot by the score.

Civilians arriving at Ghent today picture scenes of the wildest disorder within and behind the German lines. The German soldiers are burning and pillaging, and the situation is bordering on open anarchy.

Sixty Belgians were killed Saturday night. Scores were injured.

The situation in Brussels so moved the Spanish minister and the Dutch consul, as well as a prominent lawyer of Brussels, M. Emil Jahnssons, that they hurried to Bruges and appealed to King Albert to take steps to safeguard the Belgian capital against the German menace, which is fast spreading.

MEETING AT GHENT.

The correspondent learns that the king sanctioned a meeting of twenty Belgian parliamentarians at Ghent today to discuss constitutional reforms with a view to establishing a new Belgian cabinet.

The Belgian people are reported to be particularly enraged against some Flemings who are accused of being pro-Germans, and even spies. All Flemings of this character who could leave fled with the Germans.

In Ghent a Belgian woman who had associated with Germans was threatened by a mob that wanted to cut off her hair and thus brand her as a traitor to Belgium. Gendarmes had the greatest difficulty rescuing her.

Only the most confusing and meager details reach us from Brussels, as few are allowed as yet to cross the allied line. It is understood, however, that the trouble began Monday night when 200 mutineers, most of them Bavarian soldiers, scattered throughout the city and began crying "Freedom!" Fighting in the streets immediately followed and it became worse every succeeding day. Socialists are said to be in complete control of the German armed forces in Brussels.

Belgian Socialists also are said to be stirring up trouble among the Belgians. It is believed, however, that most of them are Flemings who fear entry of the Allies into the capital.

Robinson Smith, representing the American commission for relief in Belgium, was the first American to enter Ghent. He was greeted by a tremendous ovation. He opened an office and began work, immediately relieving distress.

The people of Ghent say the German soldiers were infuriated when they departed, openly charging their officers with having lied to them throughout the war. It appears the fact that they had lost the war dawned upon them only four or five weeks ago. They said many bitter things against the Kaiser, such as "I'd like to cut his throat," because he and the officers had deceived them.

Towards the last, the German army transports broke down completely. The officers had no motor cars left. All lorries had wooden wheels, because there was no rubber. The German horses are all bones, and many oxen are being used.

Allied Troops Along Entire Line Advance Toward German Cities

Paris, Nov. 15.—Conforming to the terms of the armistice, Allied troops have begun to advance along the entire line, following the Germans withdrawing from the invaded regions of France and Belgium, Luxemburg and Alsace-Lorraine.

By Sunday the tricolor will float over Strassburg, Metz and Colmar.

The Echo de Paris says the departments of Alsace-Lorraine probably will resume their old French names.

Copenhagen, Nov. 15.—Berlin dispatches give the partial make-up of the German government as follows:

Interior and Military Affairs—Dr. Ebert.

Finance and Colonies—Philip Schiedemann.

Demobilization, Transport and Justice—August Dittmann.

Publicity, Art and Literature—Herr Landsberg.

Social Policy—Herr Barth.

Foch Warns Germans to Guard Prisoners and War Supplies for the Present

Paris, Nov. 15.—Marshal Foch sent a wireless message to the German high command saying that German commanders in the field continue to propose to the allied commanders opposite them that the latter immediately take over Allied prisoners and German war material.

Marshal Foch states in his message that Allied commanders are forbidden to receive prisoners or materials for the present. Any prisoners or materials left by the Germans "in situ" must be guarded by the Germans before being officially taken over by the Allies.

JAMESON CALLS FOR INSPECTION OF BALLOTS

Concord, N. H., Nov. 15.—John B. Jameson, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, who was defeated by George H. Moses, Republican, by 1,069 votes, has made personal application to the Secretary of State here for an inspection of ballots. The official figures, as announced yesterday, gave Moses 35,528 and Jameson 34,459.

BRITAIN ADMITS LOSS OF BIG WARSHIP

News Exclusively Published by Hearst Papers Four Years Ago Is Now Confirmed

The British government sent out on Wednesday night, through its press bureau in London, the following official announcement:

> The Admiralty tonight made its first official announcement of the loss of the battleship Audacious, which sank after striking a mine off the north Irish coast on October 27, 1914. The loss of the battleship was kept a secret at the urgent request of the commander-in-chief of the grand fleet.

The Boston AMERICAN and the other Hearst papers were the only newspapers in the world that announced on October 30, a few days after the event, the loss of Great Britain's great battleship, the Audacious.

RECEIVED PHOTOGRAPH.

A verification of the news was received by mail from the staff correspondent of the Boston AMERICAN, who witnessed the sinking and the gallant rescue of the crew in a heavy gale by British destroyers.

The facts were printed without comment in the Boston AMERICAN of November 14, 1914. A prompt denial was made by the official Press Bureau in London, apparently upon the authority of the British government. The denial seemed so unequivocal that it was sent out by the Associated Press to its over two thousand daily newspapers in the United States.

On November 14 the AMERICAN received from another correspondent a photograph showing the actual sinking of the Audacious. This photograph was taken from the giant White Star liner, the Olympic, which had been summoned by wireless. It was published November 15, 1914.

The Olympic, in a heavy gale, struggled for many hours to get the sinking Audacious in tow so that she could be taken nearer shore, where she could be salvaged after sinking. But every hawser passed by the Olympic to the 24,000-ton battleship snapped in the heavy gale. The effort to convey by destroyers the anchor chains of the Olympic to the Audacious to serve as a tow line failed, on account of the heavy seas running, after an all-day trial.

For many hours during these fruitles efforts the peerless dreadnought, fatally wounded, was slowly sinking lower and lower in the stormy seas. Finally her personnel of more than a thousand men were taken off by splendid seamanship to the waiting destroyers, a few moments before the great battleship went down.

REMARKABLE COINCIDENCE.

It was at this moment the photograph afterward published in the Boston AMERICAN was taken. It was an extraordinary coincidence that the man who took the photograph and sent it to the AMERICAN did not know that a fellow passenger on the Olympic was a staff correspondent of the AMERICAN and was already sending a mail account. But the photograph arrived after the mail account was published in the AMERICAN and officially denied.

The publication of this news and photograph exclusively in the Boston AMERICAN and other Hearst papers, although all British newspapers were forbidden to publish it, excited wide comment throughout England, although publication of the name of the battleship was never permitted. But the incident evoked so much criticism of the censorship that the British government was deeply incensed against the Hearst newspapers.

FIRST DUTY TO AMERICA.

The Boston AMERICAN was very sorry to offend the British government, but it felt that the United States not being at war at that time American newspapers had a right to print the news.

This was one of the offences that led the British government to deny the use of its cables to the Hearst newspapers or the International News Service. This ban continued for many months and was not officially lifted until after America entered the war.

The friendship of the Hearst newspapers for England is entirely sincere, but their first duty as newspapers is to America and their American readers.

MAN HURT AS "SNAKE CAR" LEAVES TRACK

As the result of an accident to one of the "snake cars" of the Boston Elevated, on Washington street, near the Lotus Place carbarn, early today, Robert T. Pye of No. 6 Elven Road, Roslindale, sustained painful injuries. Three other passengers escaped injury. The car was badly damaged. The accident occurred, it is said, through the rear car leaving the tracks. Every window in the car was broken by the jar.

"It's the Bean"

LABOR WILL CONTINUE TO RECEIVE HIGH WAGES, SAYS BARUCH

TO SHARE MORE IN PROFITS

Workers Will Be Well Paid—Consumers to Benefit by Lower Cost of Production

Washington, Nov. 15.—Labor will receive a higher participation in the fruits of its toil when peace is declared as a result of great national prosperity and the better understanding it has with capital from war dealings, according to Bernard Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board.

"I have the utmost confidence that the labor situation will be adjusted without loss to the workers," he asserted. "Labor will continue to be well paid."

Baruch favors the creation of a permanent government organization to project measures of conservation and standarization.

WOULD INCREASE PRODUCTION.

"Properly conceived," he said, "a policy of industrial conservation and standardization in time of peace will make for a saving in materials, money and labor, and a consequent increase in productive capacities. Standardization of types and styles of various clases of commodities will make for cheaper costs of production and, resulting therefrom, lower prices to the consuming public. The possibilities of such economies constitute one of the greatest lessons we have learned from the war."

Mr. Baruch announced that he had notified the 251 "dollar-a-year" men in his employ that when, in their judgment, the necessity for their presence in his organization no longer exists, that they so notify him, giving him the power to pass on the wisdom of their resignations at this time.

WILSON FAVORS COMMISSION.

Numerous conferences of government officials and of the members of civic organizations here brought to the conclusion the frankly expressed opinion that America is better prepared for peace than she was for war. The outstanding questions of the hour are:

1—What machinery will be devised by the government to take advantage of the industrial lessons taught by the war, and

2—What part will organized industries play in the future control and distribution of raw materials.

President Wilson favors the creation of a commission to map out the work of industrial and social reconstruction. Senate leaders unhesitatingly say that they will favor only such plans for reconstruction as may be brought to their attention by their own constituted committees.

WILL TURN OVER STATISTICS.

It is patent that Chairman Baruch of the War Industrial Board is preparing for the dissolution of his organization and is ready to hand over its statistics and findings to officials of the Department of the Interior, Department of Commerce or to any other governmental body to whom may be given any part of the duties which the War Industries Board has borne.

Perhaps the most interesting sidelight on the industrial situation is the announced meeting of some 350 to 400 committees, representing as many industries of the country, to be held at Atlantic City by the United States Chamber of Commerce next month.

As yet officials of the Chamber of Commerce are not prepared to discuss plans which, for lack of knowledge of the exact drift of governmental opinion, have failed to progress toward crystalization.

WILL "UNSCRAMBLE" EGGS.

The 400 war service committees, however, worked in conjunction with the War Industries Board in the scrambling of the industrial eggs during the past year and a half, and it is no secret that the Chamber of Commerce—the most powerful industrial organization the nation has ever known—believes that the unscrambling process should be carried out by the men who did the scrambling.

The Chamber of Commerce denies that plans are afoot by which the industrial giants of the country will delegate commitees which, in turn, will divide up the raw materials of the country by right of joint purchase and control. The business men of the country, however, realize the advantages to be derived from the stabilization of prices by adequate control of raw materials. The session at Atlantic City next month promises to be very interesting, according to business men here.

INTERMEDIARY ON RESOURCES.

The War Industries Board will hereafter act as the intermediary through which the industrial resources of the nation are to be carried back to a peace basis and rapidly diverted to the normal needs of industry and trade, Chairman Baruch announced today. The arrangement has been executed by an agreement with all the war-making agencies of the government. The board will promptly be advised of adjustments of all government war contracts in excess of $100,000.

It has never been the function of the War Industries Board to make contracts and therefore the board cannot assume responsibility for contract adjustments. However, the board will undertake by advice so to control the situation as to stabilize the flow of materials, labor and plant facilities back to peace channels. The board will receive information concerning the cancellation of contracts from all government departments and will keep in constant contact with the industries.

Real Story of "Lost Battalion" Told by Commander

New York, Nov. 15.—Lieutenant-Colonel Charles W. Whittlesey, whose message "You go to hell," to the beleaguring Germans who sought the surrender of the "lost battalion" on October 7, rang around the world, has again set foot on American soil.

Probably nearly everybody who had thrilled over the voicing of that defi from a battalion surrounded and apparently certain to be cut to pieces, as, indede, many in it were, expected to find its commander wearing a face showing traces of von Hindenburg pugnacity, with mayhap, knives and bayonets bristling all over him.

Instead, those who greeted the returned hero saw a strapping young officer, typically American, more than six feet tall, gazing out through a pair of steady eyes in which was a glint of unmistakable kindliness. He is 35 years old, a graduate of Williams College, and was a lawyer before he went to Plattsburg to train for Uncle Sam's army.

CUT OFF TWICE.

"We were twice cut off in the Argonne forest," he said. "The first time was September 26. The second time we were penned in from October 3 till the night of the seventh.

"We advanced into the heart of the forest, an almost impregnable jungle of undergrowth, with about 600 or 700 men of the first and second battalions 306th Infantry, an outfit of New Yorkers and Westerners. We had exhausted our rations and before the fresh supply had been served to more than half of our men we got the order to advance. Each man carried 220 rounds of rifle ammunition.

"The following day we ran into stiff resistance at a hill where the Germans were entrenched and had mounted many machine guns. Our course lay through a deep ravine with hills 200 feet high rising from its bottom. Company A attacked the hill and lost all its officers and most of its men. The next morning we went forward, reaching our objective, a road running alongside the hill, about 6 p. m. There we bivouacked, throwing out outposts.

"The spot we occupied was perhaps 300 yards long and was thickly wooded. You could see no one ten yards away. To the north the hill rose sharply above us. The Germans were hidden there. Below us was a swamp and marsh, to which, fortunately, we could make our way at night for drinking water, crawling through the machine gun fire which the Boche sprayed about the pool.

"That morning, October 3, runners whom I had sent to our outposts, returned to tell me the outposts had been cut off or captured. We knew then that we were surrounded, and it was then simply a matter of sticking there until reinforcements came up."

"Simply a matter of sticking there," was the modest phrase employed by Lieutenant-Colonel Whittlesey to describe one of the most heroic decisions of the war.

HOW GERMANS ATTACKED.

"The Germans attacked every afternoon," he continued. "They would come down the hillside through the brush, yelling like 10,000 devils. It was useless to look for a target through that brush. They heaved down hand grenades, called 'potato mashers,' because of their shape, and swept us with machine gunfire.

"It was impossible to say how many of them were accounted for by our return fire. They dragged their dead and wounded away each night, but we found bodies in the brush afterwards.

"Of our own number 107 were killed. It was impossible to bury them properly in the rocky hillside, and their bodies were later taken back for burial.

"The afternoon of October 7 they sent a messenger to us. He was blindfolded and carried a white flag. He brought a typewritten message, reading, as nearly as I can remember:

"'We have heard the cries of your wounded. It is impossible for you to escape. Why do you not surrender in the name of humanity? Send back your reply by messenger carrying a white flag.'

"Well, we didn't send back any message at all. We simply told that messenger to 'go to ——.'

"Perhaps he went. I don't know.

"The Germans must have been informed by their scouts that relief was advancing toward us, and hoped to get us to surrender before our regiment came up. We ourselves did not know that help was so close at hand. But we stuck on and that evening a battalion of the 307th made its way to us. Then the Germans retired. Back of us came the whole 77th Division, advancing along the entire line.

"We marched out with eighty-seven men of my battalion, the first, and 107 men of the second under Captain George C. McMurtrie, who were unwounded. All the rest of our men were killed or wounded.

"And those runners! After several had been killed trying to get word to headquarters I asked others if they cared to take the risk.

"'Why, sure,' they always said. That's the way they all were.

"When we were relieved we had not had a bite to eat for four days."

Lieutenant-Colonel Whittlesey returned to America to visit his parents at Pittsfield, Mass.

Peace and Wedding Bells

Among those Bostonians most delighted with the news of peace is Miss Mary Sennott, daughter of Deputy Chief Daniel F. Sennott of the Boston Fire Department, whose marriage waits on the return of the troops. She is to be married to Private John B. Casey of the Fourth Artillery Corps upon his return. The groom-to-be is a former Boston Latin School instructor.

PUBLIC SAFETY BOARD DENIES DISSENSION

Storrow Resigns; Endicott Appoints Six New Assistant Food Administrators

Thayer, head of the women's war work activities.

DENY DISSENSION RUMORS.

Mr. Endicott and his assistants and Governor McCall resented the suggestion that the resignations had come as the result of internal dissensions. They all agreed that their work during the past twenty-three months had been cordial and harmonious. They said that with the war at a close, the necessity for further public-safety work is at an end. Mr. Endicott appointed six assitant food administrators, who will enforce the food regulations. Plans were in progress to transfer the remaining public-safety work to existing State departments.

Mr. Endicott issued the following statement:

"I have been constantly asked today why I have requested to be relieved as soon as practicable from war work, and also why others associated with me have asked for the same release.

"When it became apparent that an armistice was imminent we were all unanimous in our belief that when it was signed it was wise for us to ask to be relieved. We came to this conclusion because we realized that conditions after fighting ceased would be different from those obtaining during the war. Our work has been war work.

WORK PLEASANT, SAYS ENDICOTT.

"Our authority has been vague, but we have had all the necessary authority because we were at war, and the people of Massachusetts have been glad to do everything we requested. They have done their share nobly, and they have done it voluntarily. This has made our work much easier and very pleasant.

"Now, it seemed to all of us that the sooner we began to take steps toward peace conditions the better. In peace times committees appointed for war service cannot accomplish nearly as much as organizations appointed to handle peace problems. Peace problems must of necessity be handled in a different manner from war problems.

"None of us intend in any way to neglect any of our duties or put ourselves in such shape that we cannot be of help if help is needed. We do believe that organizations now existing or which may be appointed, Federal or State, will prove to be the proper channels to carry on the work. I am confident that I speak for the whole Public Safety Committee when I say that we stand ready to be of service in any way.

NEW FOOD CONTROLLERS.

"As to the food problem, I have today appointed six of the strongest men in our organizations as assistant food administrators. These men are John D. Willard, Mr. Z. C. Dickinson, Mr. Edward Wigglesworth, Mr. A. A. Kidder, Mr R. M. Everett and Mr. H. C. Everett, Jr. If these men need any assistance Mrs. Thayer, Mr. Ratshesky, Mr. Phelan, Mr. Lyman, Mr. Clark and myself will aid them all in every way possible. We shall only relax our efforts or lay aside our responsibilities as we can place them safely on the shoulders of these young men. The regulations and rules of the United States Food Administration will be rigidly enforced until peace is declared.

"In answer to the statement in one of the morning papers that there was a suspicion of dissension, or 'heated discussion behind closed doors,' it is almost needless for me to ay that there i not the slightest foundation for any such statement. From the very first there has never been one single difference of opinion amongst us. We have been absolutely unanimous in our opinions, and there never was even a thought of any dissension; nor has there been any in the whole year and nine months during which we have been together every day—and long days at that."

PROHIBITIVE TAX AIMED AT CHILD LABOR

Amendment to the Revenue Bill Offered in the Senate Today

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 15.—An amendment to the revenue bill designed to control child labor in the United States by placing a prohibitive tax on the products of child labor was introduced in the Senate this afternoon by Senator Pomerene of Ohio.

The amendment was said to have the approval and support of President Wilson. A tax of 10 per cent. on the entire net profits of any mine or quarry employing children under sixteen years old, and any mill, cannery, workshop, factory of manufacturing establishment employing children under fourteen years and children between fourteen and sixteen years more than eight hours a day would be levied under the amendment.

The amendment provides, however, that the tax shall not apply against employers who hire children under age, but who present certificates showing them to be above the ages set i nthe amendment. A false statement on the gase of children employes is punishable by fine of not less than $100 or more than $1,000, and imprisonment for not more than three months.

The amendment was prepared by Senators Pomerene, Lenroot and Kenyon to replace the Federal child labor law, recently declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court.

WORCESTER INCOME TAX ASSESSOR RESIGNS

Worcester, Nov. 15.—Charles H. Morse, for several months State income tax assessor for Worcester district, has resigned and will soon enter a large Worcester business firm. Percy B. HOW HAVERHILL WAR PRISONER TRIED ESCAPE

Companion Got Away From Germans; Tells of Whitmore's Hard Luck

Haverhill, Nov. 15.—How Lieutenant Herman Whitmore of this city had planned to escape from a German prison train going to Rastadt, and how his plan was foiled, is told by Lieutenant Thomas H. Hitchcock, Jr., of Westbury, L. I., who has just returned to this country after a sensational escape into Switzerland.

Lieutenant Whitmore was in the American aviation service, to which he was transferred from the Frey Lafayette Escadrille after this country entered the war. Lieutenant Hitchcock joined the French aviation service two years ago, when he was only 16, and had beeen rejected for service in the American army.

"Sergeant Herschel McKee, of the West, and Lieutenant Herman Whitmore of Haverhill, Mass., were with me when I escaped from the train going to Rastadt, said Lieutenant Hitchcock. "We had planned to get away together, but the guard woke up and blocked the others. I went it alone. So I just started with my pack and a compass, and walking at night reached Switzerland finally.

"Sergeant Tom Baffin had escaped fourteen days before, but he had no compass or map, and when he thought he was nearing the French lines, the Germans recaptured him. Then there was George Roe, a naval aviator, who had been captured off Holland by a German submarine. Odd, wasnt it? But not so odd when you think of it. Lieutenant William Cosgraif was in prison, too, when I got away. I guess they'll all be freed now."

Both Lieutenants Whitmore and Hitchcock were made prisoners when their planes were brought down within the enemy's lines. The latter was wounded and was treated in a German hospital before being sent to Rastadt. He is the son of Major Thomas H. Hitchcock, commander at the Mineola aviation field.

Lieutenant Whitmore belongs to a prominent Haverhill family. His sister is Mrs. William W. Appleton, wife of the well-known shoe counter manufacturer. Young Whitmore went to Dartmouth, which he left in order to enlist in the Lafayette Escadrille. His brother, "Nat" Whitmore, was a former football star at Dartmouth.

Lieutenant Whitmore was captured last Spring. His family have received postcards from him telling that he was fed through the American Red Cross, but he had received none of the letters sent him by his family.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

ACCUSE HOTEL OWNER OF LIQUOR VIOLATION

Allen C. Jones, manager of the American House on Hanover street, has been arrested on a charge of violating the liquor laws by selling liquor in his hotel after his licenses were suspended by Acting Police Commissioner Crowley. Harry Cornitz of No. 11 Temple street was also arrested charged with the same offence. According to the police he sold liquor in his store at No. 106 Cambridge street after suspension of license.

HEALTH CONDITIONS IN U. S. CAMPS IMPROVED

Washington, Nov. 15. — "Health conditions show continued improvement," Surgeon-General Ireland reported today in a summary of conditions in the camps and cantonments of the country for the week ended Nov. 8. Cases of influenza for that week are one-third of the number for the preceding week. There were 1,002 deaths from all causes during the week, as against 1,272 for the week ending Nov. 1.

WILSON SEES FLIGHT OF GIANT BOMB MACHINE

Washington, Nov. 15. — President Wilson, Secretary of War aBker and Wilson, Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, with many other members of Washington's official family, today witnessed a trial flight and demonstration by the giant Handley-Page bombing machine that on Wednesday flew from New York to Washington with three passengers besides the pilot. The machine has a wing stretch of 100 feet and is equipped with two Liberty motors of twelve cylinders each.

PATRIOTIC MEETING TO BE CONDUCTED TONIGHT

The parishioners of All Saints Episcopal Church, Peabody square, Dorchester, will on Sunday hold a "Patriotic Mass" at 11 o'clock, at which Rev. Simon Blinn Blunt, the pastor, will preach a most fitting sermon regarding the signing of the armistice, thus freeing the world from Prussian oppression. The musical end of the program, in charge of George Phelps, the master and organist, will in itself be a feature.

STRIKE CLOSES SHOE PLANT AT BEVERLY

Beverly, Nov. 15.—The plant of the Woodbury Shoe Company was closed today because of the refusal of officials to discharge a superintendent and foreman at the plant for ordering a soldier to leave the premises, which resulted in a strike of 500 employes.

Soccer Player Gets Sixth Wound in Action

Lawrence, Nov. 15.—Wounded six times by the Germans and still in fighting trim is the record of William Smith of the Royal Field Artillery of this city. He has been in the service three years. His wife has just received word that he received wounds in the hand and knee in one of the final engagements against the Austrian troops. He has been gassed in action twice. Private Smith is thirty-one years old and for years starred as a Lawrence soccer player.

CADDIGAN BACK ON JOB AFTER SEVERE GASSING

Corporal James Michael Caddigan, of No. 20 Elmont street, Dorchester, a member of Co. A 101st U. S. Engineers, according to word received in the district, was badly gassed on July 15, but is now back with his regiment after spending seven weeks in the hospital.

Caddigan is the son of Mrs. Margaret Caddigan, and is one of four brothers in the service.

Filene's A new spirit of gaiety in dress

Driving an ambulance on a dark night in France—

SUDDENLY from out of the darkness a man stepped and whispered, "Stop!" It is an absolute law of the ambulance service always to stop when you are told to.

A French soldier approached the car and slipped into the American ambulance driver's hand a note. "When you reach your destination please carry out the request." The driver passed on.

When he opened the note he found enclosed fifty francs (ten dollars), with instructions that it be used to purchase flowers for a dead comrade's grave.

Ten dollars for flowers! All from two or three of the dead man's comrades, and the pay of the French soldier is 5c a day! The gift meant untold sacrifices, not of luxuries (for on 5c a day you can have no luxuries), but on necessities.

How small in comparison seems the amount asked for from this vast, rich nation this week for united war work by the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., K. of C., J. W. B., Salvation Army, American Libraries' Association and War Camp Community Service. Saturday is the last of the drive. WHAT WILL YOU GIVE UP? WHAT WILL YOU GIVE?

Misses' flying panel frocks, $14

As the sketch suggests, the dresses look like more than $14. They are made of serge; the skirt is accordeon pleated. The flying panel can be worn inside the belt.

—Misses' simple, well-made satin dresses, $15.

PARIS CELEBRATED IN BROWN

Brown is the least sober of the practical colors, especially the lustrous brown of a nutria coat or the brilliant brown of a paprika velours suit or coat. The Filene shops are more than ready with browns, from the darkest chocolate to the lightest beige.

VICTORY COLORS

The first Victory colors, there will be others—are navy blue combined with cherry red. This combination is charming in Georgette blouses of darkest blue, with a joyous streak of cherry running around their inch-neck frills. (The misses' shop has such blouses for $8.75.) There are new youthful hats in this color combination, in the tiny Overseas shape at $1.50 in the misses' shop.

Women's new frill blouses, $5.75

The picture does not do the blouses justice; it does not suggest the heaviness of the crepe de Chine or show the good workmanship.

Women's new batiste blouses combined with linen, $2.50.

"Cicely," a new lingerie blouse in the misses' shop

Trimming is fine, fine white batiste blouses with bands of heavy, coarse basket weave in color is a very new idea.

The wide "hemstitching" inserted is a nice touch. $3.

Filene's—mail orders filled—fourth floor

Women's one-to-six-of-a-kind serge dresses, $14

It is unexpected to get style individuality in frocks for so little as $14.

It is also unexpected to get fine, soft, firm serges in such inexpensive dresses.

There are so many styles that it is impossible to describe them.

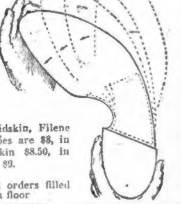
Generally, there are braided, embroidered, braid bound, coat styles, Mandarin styles, vestee effects, and fringed panel models.

Find them in the shop of women's inexpensive dresses, specializing on frocks from $8 to $14.

Filene's—mail orders filled—sixth floor

Filene comfort shoes look like other shoes but have a hidden difference

That difference is at the shank. The shank of Filene comfort shoes is perfectly flexible—the diagram below shows how it conforms to the foot. The shank gives support that you can actually feel, gives it like a bandage that spreads the toes in their normal position and gives room where it is needed without stretching the upper out of shape.



—In black kidskin, Filene comfort shoes are $8, in black calfskin $8.50, in tan calfskin $9.

Filene's—mail orders filled—fifth floor

Women's fibre silk and wool sweaters are not often seen at $10

Whoever is thinking of giving a sweater for Christmas had better see these. They combine the virtues of good looks and warmth with a good deal of individuality. The big sailor collars can be worn high or low. Combinations of colors, such as brown wool mixed with green fiber silk.

$10

Filene's—mail orders filled—fifth floor.

Misses' oxford tailor-mades, $25

The suits have Winter-and-Summer convertible collars that can be worn comfortably high or low, with or without furs.

Many other good looking suits in the misses' shop at $25—gunniburl, velours, check velours and jersey.

Filene's—mail orders filled—fourth floor

Women's plush coats, $30

$30

Almost as warm as a fur coat, almost as luxurious looking. The coats are full length and are warmly interlined.

Women's new fur-collar mixture coats, $30

Unusually soft mixtures, almost as soft as jersey, but thicker. Oxford and brown.

Filene's—mail orders filled—fifth floor

Misses' coats collared with fur

Misses' nice, soft silvertone and suede-velours coats, topped off with liberal collars of raccoon, black opossum or nutria, $45.

Two models, one pictured. You may like the other better—it is equally good-looking.

Note carefully: Only good, dependable furs are ever put on Filene misses' coats. Even at smallest prices, no fur is used unless we can afford to put on good fur.

Misses' other coats collared with fur.

CRISIS AT HAND IN WAR WORK FUND DRIVE

Boston Must Raise More Than $1,000,000 a Day in Next Four Days to Attain Quota

The crisis in the United War Work Campaign throughout New England is at hand, with Boston as the deciding factor. If Boston comes through in the next few days, New England will go flying over the top. If Boston fails, so will New England.

Early returns today showed that while cities and towns outside Boston proper were giving funds generously, the lethargy that marked the opening of the campaign still prevailed in this city.

BOSTON WAY BEHIND.

Metropolitan Boston's total today is but $2,000,059, while her quota is $7,500,000. This means $5,439,941 must be raised in the remaining four days—or $1,359,985 every day.

"New England will fail in this most glorious cause of them all if Boston does not strike its stride at once," said Charles F. Weed, chairman of the Massachusetts organization, this morning. "The situation is strictly up to the metropolitan district."

New England, as a whole, has raised $10,296,037, with a quota to go of $22,500,000. In itself that is splendid, but it means that the task of New England outside of Boston is nearly finished, and that the great difference rests with the metropolitan district. It means that New England outside has been hustling and Boston has not.

BROOKLINE WOMAN RUN DOWN BY AUTO

A broken right rib and a scalp wound were injuries sustained today by Miss Katherine Kelly, thirty-seven, of No. 163 Kent street, Brookline, when she was struck by an automobile. She was alighting from a car at Boylston and Hemenway streets when an auto driven by Raleigh B. Adams of No. 83 Forest street, Newton Highlands, struck her. She was taken to the City Hospital.

CROWN PRINCE INTERNED IN HOLLAND

State Department Officially Announces His Safe Arrival Within Dutch Borders

London, Nov. 15.—The Dutch government has interned the former German Kaiser at Amerongen Castle, which is under a triple guard of troops, said a dispatch from The Hague to the Daily Mail today.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The former German Crown Prince has arrived safely in Holland and has been interned by the Dutch government, it was officially announced by the State Department.

The same cable brought news to the effect that the former Empress of Germany was momentarily expected to join her husband.

The prompt action of the Dutch government in interning the Crown Prince may be indicative of its final action with regard to the ex-Kaiser, it was suggested. The latter, according to late dispatches, is virtually a prisoner, as Dutch gendarmes constantly patrol the estate at which he is a guest.

Amsterdam, Nov. 15.—According to the Berlin Tageblatt, the former Crown Prince and his eldest son were conveyed across the Dutch frontier from northern France by airplane. Another report current here states that the Crown Prince and a number of German officers reached Holland by automobile after taking a roundabout route to avoid mutinous soldiers.

WOMAN MAKES $54,000 IN 166 DAYS, ARRESTED

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Ethel J. Cayce, who with others is said to have made $2,000,000 profits through the sale of territorial rights for distribution of the product of the Domestic Utilities Company of Los Angeles, was arrested here by Federal authorities. The charges involve violations of postal laws. Mrs. Cayce, according to the Federal officials, admitted making a profit of $54,000 in 116 days.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 15.—Flying 228 miles in one hour and forty-five minutes, an average of more than two miles a minute, James H. Schoonmaker, Jr., accompanied by Pilot Howard Rinehart, made the trip here from the Wright Flying Field in Dayton, O., in record time.

Extend Time for Xmas Mail to Soldiers

Christmas parcels for soldiers abroad may be mailed up to November 30.

Extension of the time-limit has been announced by the War and Postoffice Departments. To insure delivery, however, parcels should be mailed as soon as possible.

The extension was granted because men of the divisions recently in combat were delayed in sending home the labels without which the parcels cannot be mailed.

JAIL TERM FOR ATTORNEY IN DRAFT PLOT

Entin of Lowell Sentenced to a Year and a Month; Bloomberg Pays $200

One year and one month in the Plymouth House of Correction was meted out today to Moses Entin, a Fall River attorney, by Judge Clarence Hale in the United States District Court, on a charge of conspiring to aid in evading the selective service act. Before sentence was pronounced, and while the defendant's young wife stood sobbing in the court room, Entin drew out a petition sed by 1,000 Fall River residents, a number of letters from promin people of that city, urging iency. Judge Hale stated that but these considerations, and the fact t Entin pleaded guilty and took stand in his own behalf, the sente would have been far more se-.

muel Bloomberg, also of Fall er, a draftee, paid a fine of $200.

ccording to the charge, Entine arnged to "fix" the examining physic on the exemption board for $250. Bomberg paid the money, and Entin ered half of it to the physician. The ter notified the Department of Justi.

ntin is twenty-seven years old has practiced law for four years. sentence does not begin until December 2. In the meantime he is held $5,000.

ALLEGED AUTO THIEF LEAPS OFF TRAIN

William Miller, Boston-Bound, Escapes From Officer by Ruse at New London

William Miller, an alleged automobile thief, leaped through a window of a Boston bound express while the train was crossing the Thames river, New London, today. Whether he was killed is not known.

Miller, formerly champion roller skater of New England, was being returned to Boston from Elizabeth, N. J., to answer a charge of having stolen an automobile, the property of a resident of the Back Bay. He was in charge of Special Officer Brett.

Just after the train left the New London station Miller asked permission to go to the rear of the car for a moment. Brett granted his request. The train was fast gathering speed and had started over the bridge.

Suddenly Miller jumped through the window. The train had gone a mile and a half before it was brought to a stop. A searching party, led by Special Officer Brett, went back to hunt for the fugitive. No trace was found.

BRITISH ELECTIONS HELD ON DECEMBER 14

London, Nov. 15.—Chancellor Bonar Law announced in the Commons that the general election in the British Isles will take place on December 14. Prorogation of Parliament will take place Wednesday or Thursday of next week. On Monday an address in regard to the war will be presented to the King and moved in both houses.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Look at tongue! If feverish, bilious, constipated, take no chances.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Advertisement.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush your kidneys occasionally if you eat meat regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

"Rough-It" Suits for Boys, at $7.50

Why they stand the gaff of rough-and-tumble hours of play better than just "boys' suits"—

The Materials—selected for their extra strength and long wear, patterned in mixtures that don't show soil.

The Seams—sewn extra strongly with 'pon honor thread that resists seams' tendencies to part under the severe strain put on them by boys. The seams of the trousers are taped.

The Lining—Alpaca lining in the coat, and the trousers are lined. This ensures the inside of the suit wearing as well as the outside.

—And while planning a suit to wear well, the makers took equal care to produce one that would fit well, look well and stay so.

FAME AND GLORY WON BY 26TH IN FRANCE

General Edwards Back From Service With New England Boys on Battle Fronts

firing line for a longer period of continuous service than any other.

Time and time again the division went "over the top" and into the hardest, cruelest kind of fighting, but never once did it falter or retreat. The heroism and sacrifices of its plucky officers and "boys" form one of the most glorious pages of the thrilling history of the splendid achievements of the American army o. the western front.

Accompanied by Major John W. Hyatt, General Edwards arrived at New York yesterday aboard the U. S. S. Plattsburgh, formerly the New York of the American line. On the ship were twenty-six wounded New England soldiers, part of the heroic division.

MAY GO TO CAMP LEE.

Relieved of his command on September 25 last, General Edwards is in the best of health and spirits. Those of his old friends who greeted him here say that he never looked "better trim." He reported at the adjutant general's office for further orders which may take him to Camp Lee. When he left France he was under orders to take over the training of the new division being formed at Camp Lee. He does not yet know now whether he will go to Camp Lee or remain in Washington. That is up to the War Department he said:

The liner on which the general returned home had a quiet and uneventful voyage after sailing from Brest on Nov. 5 until the night of the momentous 11th, when the wireless conveyed to those aboard the glad tidings of the signing of the German armistice.

CELEBRATED TRUCE.

In an instant the vesel was a blaze of light for the first time since the beginning of the war. An impromptu celebration was held, in which there were none more enthusiastic participants than the twenty-six wounded New England soldiers returning home.

General Edwards has indeed good reason to be proud of his former command when, upon his arrival here, he received the felicitations of army officers and of civilians numbered among his many Washington friends.

Since the New England division went into the line on February 1 it occupied five of the hardest sectors on the French front, all the scene of the bitterest fighting. Victory followed its battle-scarred standard everywhere and, although its losses were considerable, they were not regarded as great in view of the ground it took from the enemy and the thrashing it repeatedly administered to the foe.

The sectors the division held or fought in follow in the order in which the division moved into them:

First—Chemin des Dames (two months.)

Second—Toul (three months.)

Third—Chateau-Thierry (July 1 to July 26.)

Fourth—Troyon (South of Verdun.)

Fifth—Northeast of Verdun, where the division now is.

DONLAN IN, CHAIRMAN MASTERSON STEPS OUT

Thomas F. Masterson today sent in his resignation as chairman of the Board of Infirmary Trustees, which recently removed Dr. Charles E. Donlan, superintendent of the Long Island Almshouse and Hospital. The resignation follows the reinstatement yesterday of Dr. Donlan. Masterson was one of the prime movers in the agitation against the superintendent. It is believed the resignations of the other members of the board will follow.

NOVEMBER PRICE BASIS FOR DECEMBER HOGS

Washington, Nov. 15.—The Food Administration announced that after consultation with the sub-committee, Agricultural Advisory Board and the special swine producers' representatives and with the packers, it has been arranged that the November price basis for hogs shall continue through December. It is highly desirable that the lighter weight hogs be held back for the next thirty days, it was stated.

FIGHT NEWBURY AND MOSES IN U. S. SENATE

Protest Against Michigan and New Hampshire Men Taking Seat.

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 15. — Protests against seating Truman H. Newberry and George H. Moses, successful Republican candidates for the Senate in Michigan and New Hampshire, were received by the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections this afternoon.

A telegram to Senator Pomerene from the Ford Non-Partisan League gave notice that "certain documents that will be of interest in an investigation of Newberry's campaign expenditures" are on their way to Washington.

The committee met to consider a resolution ordering an investigation of the Michigan candidate's expenditures, but postponed action until the documents shall have arrived.

A telegram from the chairman of the Democratic State Committee in New Hampshire urged that Moses be not seated until after the recount ordered for Dec. 9 has ben held.

The committee decided to reopen the La Follette investigation tomorrow.

Demobilization of Carrier Pigeons Is Ordered

All carrier pigeons belonging to the Northeastern Department, No. 99 Chauncy street, will be demobilized, according to orders received today by Major Foster Veitenheimer, Signal Corps Department officer. The fifty-eight birds now in the loft on Atlantic avenue will soon be returned to their owners or if the latter do not care for them they will be purchased by the government.

There will be no change in the activities of the Signal Corps Department for six months. Matters of the utmost importance must be attended to, and this will require the efforts of the whole working force.

POLES DISARM BOCHE TROOPS AT VARSEVIA

Seize Headquarters of Germans and Conduct Soldiers to the Frontier

Washington, Nov. 15.—Polish troops have taken possession of the German headquarters at Varsevia, Poland, and participated in the disarmament of German troops, says a semi-official dispatch received today from Berne. The operation was carried out without resistance being made.

Cout Larchenfeld, chief of the civilian administration, and Count Ruteun Czapski, aide de camp of General von Beseler, have sought shelter with Pilsudski, asking for his protection. As to General Beseler himself, the dispatch says no one knows where he is. The disarmed German troops were immediately conducted to the frontier. Their arms and a large amount of munitions are in the hands of the Varsevia government. The documents left by the German authorities have been seized.

Pilsudski has guaranteed the safety of the Germans, whose evacuation will be assured in the shortest possible time, it was stated.

The dispatch further says that the government of Varsevia has begun to negotiate with territorial questions, the negotiations having taken place at Lemburg. Dazinski has renounced forming a government at Lablin and has rallied to the Varsevia government. A concentration cabinet will be created.

The regency council, in a manifesto to the Polish nation, says that the military administration has been intrusted to Pilsudski, who will remit the superior authority to he Die as soon as i is assembled.

FORWARD! HELP CHRISTMAS FUND DRIVE

NEEDS OF POOR ARE URGENT

Appeal to American to Give Them Baskets of Food on Feast Day

Will You Give Income of 15 Minutes to Charity?

The Boston AMERICAN'S Christmas Basket Fund asks for the income, FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES, of every man and woman in Greater Boston.

This money will go to provide Christmas dinners for poor widows and children who are starving.

If everybody in Greater Boston would give their income for this short peiod the sum collected would provide dinners not only for Christmas, but for many days besides.

What does your income for fifteen minutes amount to, to you? Very little.

Figure out what you earn each day. Divide it by eight for an eight-hour day, and divide that by four and send the result in cents or dollars to the Boston AMERICAN'S Chistmas Basket Fund, No. 80 Summer street. The contribution will be acknowledged. Only initails will be printed in acknowledgment if desired.

Come on now, everybody. Help out this drive for Christmas cheer and send in your income for a quarter of an hour.

in the aggregate the amount collected will feed every poor widow and child in Greater Boston on Christmas Day.

SEND IN CONTRIBUTION.

Figure out what you earn in fifteen minutes and send it in to the fund.

The contribution will be acknowledged in the paper, but only initials will be used if the contributor so desires.

Eighteen young people of Forest Hills showed that they were made of the right stuff when they dressed up in costumes and paraded for collections for the Christmas Basket Fund. The eighteen, composed of both boys and girls, started out at 9 a. m. and paraded the Lower Washington street district until 4:30 in the afternoon, beating on tin pans and blowing horns. In the course of the day they also burned an effigy of the Kaiser to wind up with.

In all they collected $1.60 which they sent in to the fund. The boys and girls who made up this procession were:

John, Francis and Michael Weed; John McGrath, Harry Whittemore, John and Lawrence Hubbs, John, Mary and Margaret McNulty; Edward and Robert Keefe, Edward Powers, Edward and Cliff Hunt; May and Helen Keane and Miriam Travers.

When they had collected $1.60 the idea was broached to send the money to the soldiers to buy pies when it was explained to them that Uncle Sam would look after the pie distribution for the army they decided to send it the Boston AMERICAN'S Christmas Basket Fund.

This contribution shows the right spirit. The Boston AMERICAN would like to send to each of these boys and girls a button which shows that they have contributed to this fund, but in sending in their contribution they neglected to inclose an address.

Will one of these boys or girls who reads this please send his address to the secretary of the Boston Christmas Basket Fund, No. 80 Summer street, Boston so the buttons may be mailed?

ALL ASKED TO HELP.

Other boys and girls are urged to get these buttons, too. For every contribution to the fund from boys and girls a button is sent which entitles the bearer to an invitation to the big festival which will be held around the Boston AMERICAN'S big Christmas Tree on the Common on the Monday before Christmas Day.

Boys and girls, don't forget that there are hundreds of homes right in this city where there will be no Christmas cheer if you don't help out.

Do what you can, and you can do a lot, for these unfortunate ones.

And boys' and girls' fathers and mothers—the big end of this fund falls to you. Many of you can't send in big amounts but everybody can fall in with the suggestion above to send in their income for fifteen minutes.

If everybody would do it there would be no poverty in the city at Christmas or any other time.

LOUIS B. MAYER and noted film star, Mary Pickford, who is to produce her own plays.

MARY PICKFORD GETS SALARY BOOST

Considerable local interest is taken in the contract signed by Mary Pickford with the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc. The many mysterious trips of Louis B. Mayer, prominent in the film world and active head of the First National interests in New England, to New York, Chicago and other cities which caused considerable speculation a short time ago have now been explained with the news that he was after the contract for the exclusive services of "Little Mary."

A brief time ago Mr. Meyer leaped into the limelight when it became known that he paid the Vitagraph Company $100,000 for the release of Anita Stewart, another famous screen star, from the remaining six weeks of her contract with that company. Now it has become known, and Mr. Mayer admits, that the income of Miss Pickford will exceed that of Charlie Chaplin, who has been rated as the highest paid actor in the world. It is estimated that it will cost over $1,500,000 for one year's production of the Pickford plays.

The bitter battle between Paramount-Artcraft and First National forces has therefore come to an end, with the latter corporation triumphant in the possession of the much coveted agreement by which the little star is to be her own manager and producer and will choose her own plays and engage her own casts.

The First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc., is owned and controlled by theatre owners exclusively from coast to coast, three local theatres being associated with the corporation, the Washington Street Olympia, the Scollay Square Olympia and Upham's Corner new million-dollar Strand Theatre, which are a part of the vast chain of theatres operated by Nathan H. Gordon and his associates.

PRICES STRONG IN AN ACTIVE MARKET

Dealings Turn From Heavy and Irregular After First Hour of Trading

The New York stock market opened strong, but the tone soon became heavy and prices irregular. In the second hour prices were strong again and the market active.

U. S. Steel opened at par, up 1⅝. After dipping to 98¾ it sold 100½; Bethlehem B sold at 64½, up 1½, after touching 62⅝; Crucible rose to 56, up ¾; Republic opened 77⅝, up ⅝, then lost its gain. Baldwin Locomotive started at 83, up 1, then receded to 81, off 1, then made a fractional recovery. Steel Foundries was up 3⅛ at 90⅛.

Anaconda sold down from 69⅞ to 68¼; Inspiration from 52¾ to 51⅞; Kennecott from 39 to 38½, and Utah from 85¾ to 84⅝. American Smelting ranged between 88⅛ and 87⅛.

Reading sold at 90 after selling from 90⅛ to 89⅛; Southern Pacific dropped from 106⅝ to 105⅝, then sold 106⅝, up 1½; Union Pacific rose from 133⅛ to 134¼, up ⅝, and New York Central from 80⅛ to 81⅝, up ⅝.

Studebaker sold from 65½ to 64⅞ and back to 66½, up 1; Willys-Overland was off ⅜ at 26⅝. Marine preferred receded from 124¾ to 117⅞, off 2⅜, and Atlantic Gulf dropped 1½ to 109¾.

Mexican Petroleum ranged between 171½, up 4, and 168, up ½. Corn Products sold 48⅜ to 47⅝, then 48, off ⅛, and American Can 46⅛ to 47, up ⅝. Distillers was off ⅜ at 47⅞.

The Boston exchange showed little change. American Telephone was off ½ at 105⅝; Mohawk ½ at 58. Swift & Company gained ½ at 129 and Stewart ¼ at 35¼. Boston Elevated, 76; Gorton-Pew, 31; Fairbanks, 60, and United Shoe 45, were unchanged. Boston and Maine sold 34½, up ½, and New Haven, 38⅝, off ⅛. Edison Electric sold at 179.

There was lessened activity at Midday. U. S. Steel was a leader at 100⅝, it was up 2⅛; Steel Foundries was up 6⅝, at 93¾; Crucible sold 56½ and Republic Steel 78⅝. Baldwin showed a gain. Mexican Petroleum sold 172⅝, up 5...

Shipping issues were weak. Marine common sold for 25¼, off 2, and the preferred for 115⅝, off 4⅞. Coppers improved. Anaconda gained ⅝ at 69⅝, and Inspiration ⅝ at 53. Pierce-Arrow rose 2¼ to 47⅞, and Maxwell 1 to 39.

FARE INCREASE WAS IDEA OF BAY STATE

Receiver Admits Petition for 10-Cent Rate Was Made on Advice of Company

"Public sentiment ceases to be a factor where you can't make both ends meet."

In these words Wallace B. Donham, receiver for the Bay State road, today met the protests against an increase in fares from 6 to 10 cents, at a hearing before the Public Service Commission at No. 1 Beacon street. The hearing was continued from October 31.

Mr. Donham, under cross-examination by City Solicitor Arthur G. Wadleigh of Lynn, admitted that his petition for the increase was made on the advice of the company. Asked whether the decreased patronage sure to follow a rise in fares would not have a serious effect on the revenues of the stockholders, Mr. Donham replied that he did not think it could leave the stockholders in any more serious situation than they are in at present. He acknowledged that the increase asked for is the most radical step the company has yet taken.

WOUNDED HEROES TO BE GUESTS AT DANCE

Now the young ladies of Adjutant-General Stevens' office at the State House are going to give a dance this evening——

A dance for returned, wounded soldiers, sailors and marines.

"A good cause," you say.

Yes, that is what the young ladies said to themselves. And that is why they are giving the dance.

So here is your invitation, Mr. and Mrs. Boston, tonight, over at the Cambridge Armory. The State Guard, General Crozier, Admiral Wood, Captain Rush and others will attend.

The young ladies of Adjutant-General Stevens' office have sat up nights evolving ways and means and dresses in which they will appear at the dance.

ABANDON NOON CLOSING PLAN FOR BIG STORES

Boston stores will not close at noon, as was recently considered as a war measure at the suggestion of H. B. Endicott and James J. Phelan, for the purpose of releasing store employes for government work. At a meeting of the Merchants' Lunch Hour Closing Committee it was pointed out that instead of conserving labor now the stores should give employment to as many persons as possible.

FIRST CITIZEN SOLDIERS IN WAR ARE PRAISED FOR DEEDS OF VALOR

Original "Yankee" Division Wins Immortal Fame on Battlefields of France.

masses of rock. The following named men, at the risk of their own lives, entered the quarry and extricated one of their comrades who was pinned down under a rock in such a manner as to jeopardize the lives of the rescuers.

The division commander is pleased to make special mention of these men and congratulates them on their gallantry:

First Sergeant Sydney A. Morency, Company C, 102d Machine Gun Battalion.

Private Wilfred J. McCarthy, Company C, 102d Machine Gun Battalion.

3. The division commander is happy to extend his congratulations and express his appreciation of the excellent work of the motorcycle couriers attached to division headquarters during the past eight months, in which this division has been on active service against the enemy, and desires to make special mention of Sergeant Edward Nelson, Headquarters Troop, under whose supervision the excellency of this service has been demonstrated by the absolute lack of any thought of personal comfort or safety by these couriers, particularly shown in the conduct of Private (first class) Alexander Tedesco, Headquarters Troop, when riding through hot shell fire beyond Trugny and Maison Branche farm, during the second battle of the Marne.

Courage and attention to duty was also evidenced by Private (first class) Harold Ogden and Private Edwin Hobbs, both of Headquarters Troop, when each man on separate occasions became injured in such manner as to warrant their abandoning their mission until receiving aid, but who continued on their way until their messages were delivered and then looked to the care of the machines before going to the hospital for treatment.

4. During the attack of the enemy against our troops in the vicinity of Seicheprey on April 20th to 21st, 1918, which has been the subject of previous orders, Private Richard W. Brown, Sanitary Detachment, 103d Field Artillery, showed exceptional coolness and devotion to his comrades under fire, not only dressing wounded men in the place where they fell, without regard to his personal safety, but by carrying ammunition and manning a gun when the casualties of the battery to which he was attached had considerably decimated the personnel, and in his quiet and unassuming manner under the severe conditions of these two days did much to encourage the men in their work.

The division commander is pleased to cite in orders this soldier who thus exemplified duty over and above personal comfort.

5. During an attack by the enemy against our position at Xivray-Marvoisin on June 16, 1918, the following named officers and men distinguished themselves by their coolness and courage under fire, and the Division Commander is pleased to cite them in orders for their gallant conduct on this occasion:

First Lieutenant Harold W. Herrick.
Second Lieutenant Howard C. Arnold.
Sergeant Ernest V. Wry.
Sergeant Leo N. DesLauriers.
Sergeant Edward J. Sabine.
Sergeant Joseph A. Harkin.
Sergeant John J. Carroll.
Corporal Eugene W. Laurier.

Private Ralph B. Morey.
Private Frank Tierney.
Private John F. Collins.
Private Frederick Brandt.
Private Joseph F. Anderson.
Private James M. Malone, all of Company D, 103rd Machine Gun Battalion.

6. On the night of July 13, 1918, Sergeant Walter T. Jensen, Company F, 101st Engineers, accompanied by his platoon, passed through the Rue Gobert, near Lucy-le-Bocage, while under shell fire of the enemy. He and five others of his platoon were wounded at this time, and although Sergeant Jensen was wounded seriously, he refused attention until all of his comrades had been cared for. His wound resulted in his death nine days later.

The division commander considers it fitting to make known the unselfish conduct of this soldier.

7. The division commander takes great pleasure in citing in orders the following named officers and men who have shown marked gallantry and meritorious service in the capture of Torcy, Belleau, Givry, Bouresches Woods, Rochet Woods, Hill 190, overlooking Chateau Thierry, Etrepilly, Bezuit, Epieds, Trugny, and La Fere Woods to the Jaulgonne-Fere-en-Tardenois road, during the advance of this division against the enemy from July 18 to 25, 1918, in the second battle of the Marne.

8. During the operations of this division in the advance against the enemy from September 12th to 14th, 1918, which resulted in the cutting off o the St. Mihiel sallent, by the march to Vigneulles and Hattonchatel, the following named officers and men, by their acts of personal bravery and devotion to the common cause, have again upheld the traditions of the American people, enhanced the already brilliant record of this division, and have proven the sterling qualities of the American soldier.

The division commander takes this means of expressing his gratitude and appreciation of the gallant deeds of these officers and men:

Captain Roger A. Greene, 101st Trench Mortar Battery.
Captain Sherman Shumway, 103rd Infantry.

Watch the Tongue of your Young! Your little Pets need Cascarets

Children think Cascarets just dandy,
They are safe and mild cathartic candy.
Sell for a dime—"work" every time.

MOTHERS! Clean the clogged-up places. Do away with the bile, sour fermentations and constipation poison which is keeping your little one cross, feverish and sick. Children love Cascarets, because to them it is like eating candy. Cascarets act better than castor oil, calomel or pills on the tender stomach, liver and bowels. Cascarets never gripe, never injure, and do not disappoint the worried mother. Give harmless Cascarets to children one year old and upwards. Each ten cent box contains full directions.

On the night of September 22, 1918, a raiding party composed of three [illegible] of the 101st Infantry, commanded by Captain C. F. Lee made a raid in force on the town of St. Hilaire, proceeding as far as Bulgreville. Due to the rough and swampy terrain [illegible] covered by wire, progress was very difficult, and owing to the destruction of bridge 214 and the unfordable condition of the river it was impossible to enter the town. Despite all of these obstacles this party attacked the enemy with hand grenades and rifle fire. The division commander [illegible] Captain Lee for his leadership and the men of Company [illegible] and makes special mention of the following named officers and men for their bravery and coolheadedness in accomplishing their mission.

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood through the lymph ducts, excite the heart, which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, aspirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it drank before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.—Advertisement.

An Important Mark-Down Sale of

HANDSOME COATS & SUITS

For Misses and Small Women

An opportunity to obtain coats and suits of exceptionally good style and material, at lowered prices.

The Suit Fabrics—

Velvet, Velour de Laine, Velour Silvertone, Broadcloth, Parona, Oxford Gray.

The Coat Fabrics

Pom Pom, Silvertone, Velour de Laine, Velour, Broadcloth, Bolivia. Coats and Suits Have as Trimming Furs, Nutria, Sealette, Australian Opossum.

The Coats have all the best coat thoughts of the season—loose backs, semi-belts and cape coats.

The Suits are youthful in their belts that tie, the mode of their pockets, the ideas that inspired their collars.

Sketched above is a representative of each of the five groups reduced. Nearly every group includes many suits of which there are but a few, or one of a kind, so those shown are but typical of what you may expect to find.

Suits Reduced to $25

[illegible] Velour suit sketched is [illegible] It shows the high waist-[illegible] its deserved popularity [illegible] pockets and a sash which ties [illegible] back.

Suits Reduced to $55

The Velour de Laine suit [illegible] has not only a large [illegible] collar of fur, but fur trimming [illegible] front as well. There are fancy pockets [illegible] pin tucking and a narrow belt [illegible] give additional interest. The skirt is [illegible]

Coats Reduced to $25

We have pictured a Pom Pom coat [illegible] good, with separate furs, or with its self collar worn high. There is a high waist line, full gathered back and a wide belt. Self strapping and novelty buttons trim it. The coat is lined throughout.

Coats Reduced to $37.50

The one shown above is a [illegible] Velour coat, distinguished by its graceful full loose back, with the semi-belt [illegible] the fulness in front. There are tailored sleeves with wide cuffs, and a fancy lining throughout.

Coats Reduced to $55

The girl at the extreme right wears an exclusive cape coat of beautiful Velour, with a large sealette collar, and novel pockets for added attraction. Figured silk lines it throughout.

Other Coats, distinctive one-of-a-kind models, reduced to $75

A war lesson for peace-times

War has taught us to save; to get the most out of things; to get things that have "most" in them. That's a great lesson for peace.

In clothes it means all-wool fabrics, and best tailoring: our clothes.

With the Kaiser in the discard, and America and our Allies triumphant, we all feel like sprucing up and looking the part of a winner as well as acting it. But let us not forget that Conservation is as necessary as ever—more so, in fact.

Peace will not make clothing stocks larger by a single garment. On the other hand, it will most likely create new demands on a greatly curtailed supply of wool, woolens and clothing.

So if you need a good Suit or Overcoat this winter, buy it now, but don't buy any more than you need. There'll be enough to go around if we're all careful. Buy better clothes and less of 'em.

SHE GETS COUNTY PERMIT TO APPEAR IN OVERALLS

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 15.—Mrs. [illegible] Thomas, who came here a short time ago from [illegible], applied to the county auditor for a permit to wear overalls. She says in her communication that she has been complying with the laws of the State of Washington in so doing. She says [illegible] has no objection to her [illegible] the overalls, but some of her neighbors have.

The auditor put his "okeh" on the request. The prosecuting attorney says the law forbidding women to wear male attire is out of date, anyway.

One in Four of Our Men Called for Draft Examination Was Physically Deficient

CITY PHYSICIAN STRONGLY ADVISES ALL PERSONS TO HAVE BLOOD EXAMINATIONS MADE BY FAMILY DOCTOR

SAYS THOUSANDS SUFFER FROM IRON DEFICIENCY

And think it's "overwork," "too much worry," "a case of nerves," or some other trouble. Ordinary Nuxated Iron will increase the strength and endurance of such folks in two weeks' time in many instances.

[illegible] that [illegible] per cent of the men [illegible] for [illegible] examination were found physically deficient [illegible] than one out of four of the flower of our land was sick and many of them [illegible] did not know it.

In commenting on this serious [illegible] of affairs Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, [illegible]

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital, (Outdoor Dept.) New York and the Westchester County Hospital.

DR SULLIVAN SAYS

One-fourth of the people are sick—not up to the normal health mark as shown by General Crowder's reports to Congress on the draft examinations. I strongly advise everyone who feels weak, nervous or run down at times to go to their family physician and have a blood examination made. Thousands suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. In my opinion there is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to help give increased strength and energy to the weak, run-down and aged.

[illegible] Nuxated Iron [illegible] any other form of [illegible] than Nuxated Iron.

[illegible] Newman, [illegible] Police Surgeon of the City of Chicago and former House Surgeon [illegible], in commenting on the value of Nuxated Iron, said: "This remedy has proven through my own tests of it to excel any remedy I have ever used for creating red blood, building up the nerves, strengthening the muscles and correcting digestive disorders. [illegible] City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information [illegible] for publication [illegible]. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty [illegible] I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

If you [illegible] tired in the mornings, restless at night, if you suffer from weakness or lack of vitality, go to your family doctor and have him take a specimen of your blood and examine it and if it shows iron deficiency ask him to give you a prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron. [illegible]

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which has been used by [illegible] is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. [illegible] it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

Dr. George F. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon in Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey, says: "During convalescence from SPANISH INFLUENZA (La Grippe) I find Nuxated Iron to be of great benefit."

WILD WOMAN OF STAGE QUITS HUSBAND

Adele Stollman, "Chu Chin Chow" Favorite, Is "Tired of Being Tamed"

One wild woman of the desert has tired of being tamed by a husband and has broken the fetters of matrimony to return to her former life of wildness in the desert oasis of "Chu Chin Chow" at the Shubert Theatre.

Her name is Adele Stollman. [illegible] the "wild women" in [illegible] last Spring one of the robber chieftains in the same show, Howard Butler in private life, took the wild woman, led her to the altar, tamed her effectually with a marriage ceremony, and life for the desert woman and her robber chief seemed ideal.

A few weeks ago they came to Boston with "Chu Chin Chow." [illegible] set up house-keeping [illegible] Yesterday the [illegible] woman [illegible] her belongings at the [illegible] of the "Chu Chin Chow" company that she had separated from her robber [illegible] away from the robbers' cave in the [illegible]

"U. S." ENGINES ARE NOW DOING THEIR BIT

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 15.—One of ten monster railroad engines recently built for the government at Schenectady, N. Y., has been placed in operation along the Chicago and Alton Railroad line running through here. It is an immense affair, with the letters "U. S." on the sides of the cab and tank.

FRIED CHICKEN FOR 21 CONSECUTIVE MEALS

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 15.—Fried chicken dinners still exist. Sceptical members of the Cleveland committee who toured parts of Kentucky with a trophy train in the interests of the Liberty Loan spent seven days in Kentucky towns and only had twenty-one meals of fried chickens, cream gravy and corn pone, according to one of the committee.

TURKS DISARM AND THEN SLAY ARMENIANS

Wild Tribes From Hills Aid Ottomans, Says Henry Morgenthau

How Turks Prepared for Massacre.

As I have already said these discriminations were withdrawn when the revolutionists obtained the upper hand in 1908. Not only were the Christians now permitted to bear arms, but the authorities, in the full flush of their enthusiasm for freedom and equality, encouraged them to do so. In the early part of 1915, therefore, every Turkish city contained thousands of Armenians who had been trained as soldiers and who were supplied with [illegible] or other [illegible]. The [illegible] of these men could use their munitions to good advantage. It was thus apparent that an Armenian massacre this time would generally assume more the character of warfare than those wholesale butcheries of defenceless men and women which the Turks had always found so congenial.

If this plan of murdering a race was to succeed, two preliminary steps would therefore have to be taken: it would be necessary to render all Armenian soldiers powerless and to deprive of their arms the Armenians in every city and town. Before Armenia could be slaughtered, Armenia must be made defenceless.

TRANSFORMED INTO WORKMEN.

In the early part of 1915 the Armenian soldiers in the Turkish army were reduced to a new status. Up to that time most of them had been combatants, but now they were all stripped of their arms and transformed into workmen. Instead of serving their country as artillerymen and cavalrymen these former soldiers now discovered that they had been transformed into road laborers and pack animals.

Let me recite a single episode which is contained in one of the reports of our consuls and which now forms part of the records of the American State Department. Early in July, 2,000 Armenian 'amelés'—such is the Turkish word for soldiers who have been reduced to workmen—were sent from Harpoot to build roads. The Armenians in that town understood what this meant and pleaded with the Governor for mercy. But this official insisted that the men were not to be harmed, and he even called upon the German missionary, Mr. Ehemann, to quiet the panic, giving that gentleman his word of honor that the ex-soldiers would be protected. Mr. Ehemann believed the Governor and assuaged the popular fear.

Yet practically every man of these 2,000 was massacred and [illegible] was from these that news of the massacre reached the world. A few days afterward another 2,000 soldiers were sent to Diarbekir. The only purpose of sending these men out in the open country was that they might be massacred.

SLAIN BY KURD WOMEN

Not only did the Kurdish tribesmen pour down from the mountains upon this starved and weakened regiment, but the Kurdish women came with butcher's knives in order that they might gain that merit in Allah's eyes that comes from killing a Christian.

These massacres were not isolated happenings. I could detail many more episodes just as horrible as the one related above. Throughout the Turkish empire a systematic attempt was made to kill all able-bodied men, not only for the purpose of removing all males who might propagate a new generation of Armenians, but for the purpose of rendering the weaker part of the population an easy prey.

NOTHING SACRED TO TURKS.

Most of us believe that torture has long ceased to be an administrative and judicial measure, yet I do not believe that the darkest ages ever presented scenes more horrible than those which now took place all over Turkey. Nothing was sacred to the Turkish gendarmes; under the plea of searching for hidden arms, they ransacked churches, treated the altars and sacred utensils with the utmost indignity, and even held mock ceremonies in imitation of the Christian sacraments.

They would beat the priests into insensibility under the pretense that they were the centres of sedition. When they could discover no munitions in the churches, they would sometimes arm the bishops and priests with guns, pistols and swords, then try them before courts-martial for possessing weapons against the law, and march them in this condition through the streets merely to arouse the fanatical wrath of the mobs. The gendarmes treated women with the same cruelty and indecency as their husbands.

There are cases on record in which women accused of concealing weapons were stripped naked and whipped with branches freshly cut from trees, and these beatings were even inflicted on women who were with child. Violations so commonly accompanied these searches that Armenian women and girls on the approach of the gendarmes would flee to the woods, the hills or mountain caves.

EXTERMINATION BY BANISHMENT

In the south and southern section of the Ottoman Empire lie the Syrian desert and the Mesopotamian valley.

The central government now announced its intention of gathering the 2,000,000 or more Armenians living in the several sections of the empire and transporting them to this desolate and inhospitable region.

All through the Spring and Summer of 1915 the deportations took place. Of the larger cities Constantinople, Smyrna and Aleppo were spared; [illegible] and other places where a single Armenian family lived now became the scenes of these unspeakable tragedies. Scarcely a single Armenian, whatever his education or wealth, or whatever the social class to which he belonged, was exempted from the order.

SYSTEMATICALLY ROBBED

In some cases the refugees were given a few hours, in exceptional instances a few days, to dispose of their property and household effects. But the proceeding, of course, amounted simply to robbery. They could sell only to Turks, and since both buyers and sellers knew that they had only a day or two to market the accumulations of a lifetime, the prices obtained represented a small fraction of their value.

Sometimes all the former possessors left their villages, when Mohammedan Mohadjirs—immigrants from other parts of Turkey—would be moved into the Armenian quarters. Similarly all their valuables—money, rings, watches and jewelry—would be taken to the police stations for safe keeping pending their return and then parcelled out among the Turks. Yet these robberies gave the refugees little anguish, for far more terrible and agonizing scenes were taking place under their eyes.

SLAUGHTERED IN GROUPS

At Angora all Armenian men from fifteen to seventy were arrested, bound together in groups of four and sent on the road in the direction of Caesaria. When they had traveled five or six hours and had reached a secluded valley, a mob of Turkish peasants fell upon them with clubs, hammers, axes, scythes, spades and saws. Such instruments not only caused more agonizing deaths than guns and pistols, but, as the Turks themselves boasted, they were more economical, since they did not involve the waste of powder and shell.

Whatever crimes the most perverted instincts of the human mind can devise and whatever refinements of persecution and injustice the most debased imagination can conceive became the daily misfortunes of this devoted people.

LIBERTY. BOSTON, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1918. DEMOCRACY.

GIVE SOLDIER AT AYER FIVE-YEAR SENTENCE

By THOMAS F. PHELAN.

Camp Devens, Ayer, Nov. 15.—Private Toffy J. Ayoub, 15th Company, 4th Training Battalion, Depot Brigade, was today sentenced to be dishonorably discharged from the service, to forfeit all pay and allowances due or to become due and to be confined at hard labor for five years at Fort Jay, New York.

He was found guilty by a court-martial board of insubordination. It is alleged that he refused to wash three suits of underwear when requested to do so by a superior officer.

Privates Thomas Fall, Andrew Budde, Thomas Thompson, Walter Travers, A. P. Sullivan, Joseph Rocco, John McMenamen and William Casey will represent this cantonment at the All Star boxing bouts tonight at the Radio School, Cambridge, on behalf of the War Work Drive.

Bayonet drills were held on the main parade field today. Several infantry units went on long hikes. War problems [illegible] worked out on the [illegible]. A [illegible] were given written [illegible] sets and overseas.

Sergeant James J. Talbot of the quartermaster corps has been made quartermaster [illegible].

The following promotions in the sub-depot [illegible] office were announced as follows: To be sergeants, first class (temporary), Louis A. Birkmayer, Ira Downs, John H. Mullin, Maxwell Cohen, Edward J. Graney, Leon A. Whitaker, John F. McKenny, Jr.; sergeants, Norbert J. Derigon, John W. Stefanko, Samuel Epstein, Henry D. Sullivan; corporals, Andrew L. Dirksmeier, David A. Klagge, Hector A. [illegible], Philip M. Stewart, Leroy Biggs, Frank E. [illegible], John J. [illegible].

To be [illegible] George H. Radner, James J. [illegible].

TEN PLANES TO FLY DURING RADIO GAME

U. S. Naval Radio School, Cambridge, Nov. 15.—Ten naval airplanes are expected to put in an appearance at the Harvard Stadium tomorrow afternoon and to give an exhibition of flying [illegible] to the widely heralded and anxiously awaited football game between the undefeated elevens from Camp Devens and the Radio School.

Everything was in readiness today to make the occasion one long to be remembered. The tension borders on that which prevailed during the olden days when the big three university games held the nation's interest.

High naval and military officials will attend the game.

An interesting feature of the afternoon's entertainment will be a chariot race.

Radio School officers have not as yet received instructions to dismantle the Radio School plant in view of the coming peace proclamation.

The [illegible] announcement that Secretary of the Navy Daniels believed [illegible] men would be released from service did not necessarily indicate that the Radio students would be included in the general release of naval enlisted men, it was said.

Pending receipt of official advice from Washington, the Radio school authorities would make no statement with reference to the probable discontinuance of the Radio School.

BARGAIN SALES OF COAST PATROL CRAFT

Washington, Nov. 14.—With the passing of the coast patrol there will be in due time, a navy official said today, some bargain counter sales of some ships now in the service of the navy. There will be no favoritism and no private bargaining. Any ship to be sold will first be appraised and [illegible].

[illegible] dropped before his. She knew perfectly [illegible] what she ought to have [illegible] she was angrily [illegible] to do. It was a most [illegible] the [illegible] ready for bridge [illegible] or five rubbers [illegible] was by far the [illegible] and he and [illegible] were the winners. The two men stood together for a [illegible] at the sideboard [illegible] Griffiths had [illegible] about [illegible] shoulders [illegible] of you to say so [illegible] replied [illegible] cards tonight [illegible] the German [illegible] Lessingham [illegible] the questioner [illegible] probably don't [illegible] time on cards as [illegible] interest in [illegible] from the side [illegible] Philippa [illegible] was watching Captain Griffiths.

The Secret

[illegible] thanks, Lady Cranston [illegible] Lessingham murmured, "for [illegible]."

"And what about that secret?" she asked.

"You see, there are two," he [illegible] looking down at her. "[illegible] I must surely tell you before I leave here because it is the one secret which no man has ever [illegible] keeping to himself. As for the other—"

He [illegible] there was something almost like pain in his face [illegible]

"I did not [illegible] away to ask about [illegible] I happened to notice Captain Griffiths just now. Do you know that he is watching you very closely?"

"I had an idea of it," Lessingham [illegible] "He [illegible] person is he."

"You will be careful!" she begged earnestly. "Remember, won't you, that Helen and I are really in a most disgraceful position if anything should come out."

Nothing [illegible] he promised her. [illegible] know, do you not, that, whatever might happen to me, I [illegible] find some means to protect you."

For the second time she felt a curious lack of will to fittingly reprove his boldness. She had even to struggle to keep her tone as [illegible] words.

[illegible] about seventy-six hours.

"What [illegible]?" she laughed. "It's a national characteristic, isn't it? Captain Griffiths," she continued, as she observed his approach, "if you really must go, please take Mr. Lessingham with you. He is making fun of me. I [illegible] to [illegible]."

[illegible] was [illegible] the [illegible] called as [illegible] I enjoyed our bridge immensely.

The two men were already on their way to the door when a sudden idea seemed to occur to Captain Griffiths. He turned back.

"By-the-way, Lady Cranston," he asked, "have you heard anything from your brother?"

Philippa shook her head sadly. Helen, who unlike her friend, had not had the advantage of a distinguished career upon the amateur dramatic stage, turned away and held a handkerchief to her eyes. Not a word was Philippa's sorrowful reply.

Captain [illegible] offered a [illegible] expression of his sympathy.

"Bad luck," he said. "I'm so sorry, Lady Cranston. Good night once more."

This time their departure was uninterrupted. Helen removed her handkerchief from her eyes, and Philippa made a little grimace at the closed door.

"Do you believe," Helen asked seriously, "that Captain Griffiths has any suspicions?"

Philippa shrugged her shoulders.

"If he has, who cares?" she replied a little defiantly. "The very idea of a duel of wits between those two men is laughable."

"Perhaps so," Helen agreed with a shade of doubt in her tone.

CHAPTER XLIV.

(Copyright, 1918, by King Features Syndicate Inc.)

"FIVE dollars and sixty-five cents. Five, sixty-five [illegible] was [illegible] through my [illegible] like a hideous refrain.

What was I to do? The luncheon check was five sixty-five, the tip must be at least [illegible] cents more—and I had less than five dollars and a half.

[illegible] hands went fumbling through every compartment of [illegible] converted the five [illegible] dimes and two [illegible] more than I had figured in my first flush of terror.

I had no credit at Carter's. I was unknown there. And I had nothing I could offer as security for a loan at the desk—and supposing they would [illegible] anything [illegible]. I wore no jewelry, nothing but the plain gold band on my marriage finger, and as I wrung my hands together [illegible] self anew [illegible] somehow that would not [illegible] my Jim.

For Shame

For [illegible] sake I couldn't ask Virginia to lend me the money, and in the [illegible] of my desperation I felt [illegible] was clearly not [illegible] before her [illegible] to.

But [illegible] must be done. Dee, [illegible] around the room, searching for some inspiration. All [illegible] were smiling, smartly dressed men and women. Probably [illegible] room there was no one to whom one dollar meant [illegible] difference between misery and happiness.

Suddenly, out of that [illegible] of indifferent, unknown, masklike faces, one detached itself and became real. Sheldon Blake's eyes caught mine as he leaned forward from a distant table and lifted his goblet of water in greeting.

A plan leaped into my mind. I excused myself to Virginia and Phoebe on the pretext of phoning, hurried to the lobby, gave a page ten cents and the request to call Mr. Blake from [illegible] table in front of the third pillar, and then recalled the page and told that astounded youth not to call the gentleman after all.

I must return and ask Virginia for the money. However that hurt me, it could be managed, and in a way that need not reflect on Jim.

And so I went back and told Virginia a little "white lie" about my chronic carelessness in money matters, and how it had sent me out with a ridiculously small amount of money that morning.

"We all do those things now and then. May I lend you five or ten dollars, Anne?" she asked in an even, unruffled voice. Ordinarily that tone of hers [illegible] it saved me humiliation [illegible] the careless, matter-of-fact way she slipped a bill [illegible] under cover of the damask [illegible] cloth.

Blake Came Over

Hardly was our transaction concluded when Sheldon Blake came strolling over to the table.

"Hello, Mrs. Jim!" said he. "Will you let a thirsty and lonely man have coffee with you? Those money-grubbing friends of mine don't understand the joys of a leisurely luncheon."

"Do stay. This is such a nice opportunity to have you meet my new sisters," I said, and presented him to Virginia and Phoebe.

Then, all in a moment, Sheldon's desire for a [illegible] cup of coffee was explained. He devoted it [illegible] with Virginia. He did not make the slightest effort to conceal his tremendous admiration for Mrs. Dalton—and Virginia's indifference, coupled with Phoebe's utter lack of amazement, told me something more to add to my list of "notes" about this almost undecipherable sister-in-law of mine. Virginia had a great deal of charm and lure for men. Could that be what had separated her from Pat Dalton?

My speculations were interrupted by the arrival of the check, which Sheldon calmly appropriated and signed. After all my agony over the [illegible] missing dollar—after the actual ordeal of asking Virginia for help—came this absurd, yet perfectly proper ending.

Flirting With a Soldier.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young man twenty-two years old, have a good paying trade in the shipbuilding business, and am exempted from the draft on account of being the support of my invalid mother. I am engaged to a young lady since last June whom I have known and cared for for the past two years.

During the Summer she met a young man in the army who seems to think a great deal of her—in fact he claims to love her. I have seen to [illegible] about him [illegible] his folks that I believe he stands ace high. She tells me she likes him very much, but that she loves me better. He writes to her continually. I have told her not to encourage him too much in answering his letters, but she says he is in danger probably, and she doesn't want to cut him or hurt him. She does not seem to understand that she is leading him on and also not doing the right thing by me. For if she likes him better, she ought not to remain engaged to me, and encourage him.

I will be very glad to have your opinion. [illegible]

SO many girls act this way that it is a little difficult to understand their attitude. They are engaged to one man and then deliberately encourage another, particularly if he is in the service—with no idea of the unhappiness they are likely to create around. As your promised wife she is as untrue to you as she is to the young soldier, but doubtless she fails to realize this. Why not have an understanding with her and act accordingly?

Marriage by Force

The courtship and marriage customs among the Greenlanders were, in early times, simple and unceremonious. When a lovelorn youth made up his mind as to the girl he wanted to marry, and be useful in his hut [illegible], he went to her house and dragged her forcibly to his own [illegible] where she was expected to stay without any further marriage ceremony.

Arthur Proposes to Mildred, But She Refuses, Not Being Sure That She Is in Love

CHAPTER VII.

"MILDRED!" Arthur repeated [illegible]

"Wait [illegible] think," she commanded imperiously.

She did think fast in the few minutes silence that followed. Arthur Bruce rose and walked over to one of the long French windows and stood looking out into the moonlight, his back to the lamp-lit room.

He certainly was a stunning figure, she reflected as she watched him. Could she learn to love him? She had always liked him. He was the kind of man that most girls and women admire.

Tall, fair, with blue eyes and light curly hair, he was good to look at. He had a sort of dash that impressed one, and a frank manner that won him friends. He possessed the subtle quality of personal magnetism to a marked degree.

Then why could she not accept him? the girl mused. He was an agreeable companion, his father and mother were in excellent society, Mr. Bruce senior was a prosperous business man. Arthur would succeed to his business for he was an only child. He had money enough to support a wife comfortably, even luxuriously. Yet the thought of marrying him left her cold.

A Refusal

"Arthur," she said, "I am sorry, really I am. I do like you very much. If you went entirely out of my life I would miss you. But somehow I can't love you."

The man did not reply. [illegible] looked at her dumbly. [illegible] suddenly young Hilton as he had stood before her yesterday [illegible] and [illegible] The contrast between [illegible] and this unhappy suitor made her speak [illegible] thought.

"I wonder, Arthur, if [illegible] were to do something, I mean if you would really attack some big thing and make good—if I would feel differently?"

"You mean," he asked hoarsely, "that if I had to get down to brass tacks and hustled to make my bread and butter you would care more for me than you do now?"

"I don't know," she parried. "I don't quite understand my own feelings about you."

"I start in at hard work tomorrow, Mildred," he reminded her. "I know you are right about me. I've been out of college long enough to be making something of myself and I have loafed all Summer. Is that the trouble?"

"I don't know," she said again. "But," with a sudden decision, "I do know that I do not love you, Arthur."

She could not guess how her words hurt him. He was not the kind of a man to beg her to reconsider her verdict. He only drew a long breath and said: "Very well, Mildred. I understand."

She was surprised and a little disappointed in his abrupt change of manner. She did not understand him [illegible]

Honora Deceived

[illegible] Honora Brent and Mrs. Hilton returned from church, they found Arthur Bruce and Mildred discussing the football games to be played by the various colleges during the Fall [illegible].

RESINOL CLEARS AWAY EMBARASSING PIMPLES

March 30.—"Some time ago pimples began to appear on my forehead, and spread so that people remarked about them and I didn't like to go anywhere on that account. I tried various creams, soaps and skin remedies, but nothing seemed to help me. A friend of mine who had the same trouble told me she cleared her skin with Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, so I tried them. After the first application all the redness and soreness disappeared, and after two or three applications my friends began to ask me what I used, my face looked so much better.

"Now I can go to places without being ashamed of those awful pimples, and I will never be without Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap." (Signed) Miss Jessie Torrance, 67 Beech St., Rutherford, N. J.

300 PER CENT. PROFIT MADE ON BREAD

Some Hotels Are Getting as High as 32 Cents for Single Loaf

By KATHERINE BROOKS

Two dollars a pound for butter. Thirty-two cents a loaf for bread, 300 per cent. profit! You don't pay these prices, madam? I wonder.

You, sir, regard these figures as a gross exaggeration? Then you have never stopped to reckon up.

Or else you do not order bread with your means when you dine or lunch at a hotel.

For some time now the hotels have been charging ten cents an order for bread and butter. This is irrespective of what else you order. You may have mallard duck at $4; a half portion of terrapin for $1.75; or a meal at which fifty cents for a single order of celery is a mere item. All these prices were on menus in Boston hotels within the week. With these orders there are no "fixin's"—unless you count a slice of a lemon, a sprig of parsley, or a sprinkling of salt and pepper.

AMOUNTED IS LIMITED.

If you want bread and butter you must pay 10 cents extra; and for that 10 cents you are limited to two ounces of war bread or one-half an ounce of butter. You are not allowed more of either, even if you are willing to pay extra for them.

Now, here are some prices showing the actual cost of bread and butter while the 10 cent charge has been in operation.

Unstamped butter of good quality could be bought last week at 49 cents a pound. This made the cost to the hotel about one and one-half cents for a half-ounce.

The retailer can buy good bread for eight cents a one-pound loaf; that is, one cent for the two-ounce order.

Thus, for materials which cost 2½ cents, the hotel was receiving 10 cents, a profit of four times the cost, or 300 per cent.

Of course, for your 10 cents you are receiving more than the mere bread and butter. Let us be just to the hotels. Here are the items, pro and con, that figured in a popular resort not far from the shopping centre: There were music, snowy napkins, a luxurious carpet underfoot, expensive furniture and fairly attractive appointments. On the other hand, the service was execrable, the prices exorbitant and the food of mediocre quality. An order of devilled lobster was served with formidable magnificence on a clean napkin on a metal platter, like the silver salver that carried John the Baptist's head to Herodias; but the lobster was mostly flour sauce and crumbs, and a very small portion, for the price, which was a dollar.

SUGGESTIONS TO DINERS.

At another place, noted for its high prices, there was this delightful situation: On the outside of the menu were suggestions to diners as follows: "Eat less beef and pork. Eat lamb, muton and veal."

On the menu minced filet of beef with a buckwheat cake was 80 cents. Glorified hash! But it made you feel unpatriotic, so you thought, "I' order veal."

Breaded veal cutlet (which, as every housewife knows, is only an old one warmed over with crumbs) was 90 cents.

Discouraging attempt to be both patriotic and thrifty. Well, then, a veal chop. One dollar. How about lamb chops? One dollar.

You could get a porkchop for only fifty cents, but that was unpatriotic.

At an uptown hotel which had the reputation, before the war at least, of serving good food, a small steak for $1.15 was tough and had to be worried. One felt that it had crossed the Alps like Hannibal and grown hoary with service. Sixty cents for brook trout looked cheap, but went only as far as a respectable smelt. Little old bread and butter was, of course, 10 cents; but in this case the bread weighed 2½ ounces and the butter nearly ¾ of an ounce—clearly an oversight on somebody's part.

To show what can be done, here is the menu served by a first-class hotel that provides a table d'hote luncheon at 85 cents: A choice of two soups, a choice of boiled mutton or broiled leg of chicken, both mashed potato and spinach, bread and butter, pudding or ice cream and a demi-tasse.

PLACE IS QUIET.

The prices for this variety on the regular menu (assuming that you ordered the boiled mutton) were: Soup, 25 cents; bread and butter, 10; mutton, 70; spinach, 30; potato, 15; ice cream, 30; demi tasse, 10; total, $1.90. The orders, of course, would have been larger; but divide the total by two and you still have 95 cents, more than the price for the table d'hote.

The food was good, the service prompt, and the place quiet and well ordered. Crowded, of course, with a line outside waiting for empty tables? Alas, no, dear reader. Hardly anyone there.

Why? Nobody knows. The places that charged roundly for slices of lemon and non-essential napkins under food, were thronged; the delicious eighty-five-cent luncheon was neglected. People stood in line to get seats where they were gouged to the teeth, and contended for the privilege of eating poor food and tipping waiters who snatched their quarters and half dollars without a word of thanks; while resonable prices and courteous service by young women instead of men, went begging for patronage.

O buyers of gold bricks! O babes in the wood! O great American Public!

Rebuilding Health After Any Illness

Getting Well Means Gaining Strength—A Wholesome Tonic

The getting-well stage of grip, pneumonia or other illness is the most dangerous of all because the body, weakened by the disease, is wide open to attacks of other lurking germs.

That is why all the organs of the body must be kept in their best working order, not only to drive out the poison left by the disease, but that the patient shall regain strength as soon as possible to avoid further attacks resulting from the poisons in the system.

As a means toward good health after any illness Father John's Medicine builds up the body because it is all pure, wholesome nourishment and free from opium, morphine, chloroform or other poisonous drugs or alcohol. Father John's Medicine has had sixty years' success for colds and throat troubles, coughs and sore throats, and as a tonic and body builder.

A Dead Stomach

Of What Use Is It?

Thousands? yes hundreds of thousands of people throughout America are taking the slow death treatment daily.

They are murdering their own stomach, the best friend they have, and in their sublime ignorance they think they are putting aside the laws of nature.

This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny.

These thousands of people are swallowing daily huge quantities of pepsin and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food in the stomach, without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets relieve distressed stomach in five minutes; they do more. Taken regularly for a few weeks they build up the run down stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Then indigestion, belching, sour stomach and headache will go.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere.

MINORS TO MAKE BIG DEMANDS

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 15.—Abolish the draft and the optional agreement in baseball!

This was the bombshell tossed at the major leagues by Al R. Tearney, president of the Three-I League, who introduced a resolution advocating the abolishment of these time-honored privileges of the majors on the floor of the convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

This action threatens to precipitate a baseball war. Tearney's resolution came as a shock. It would compel the major leagues to purchase players outright from the minors, instead of drafting them, and would prevent drafting among the minors as well.

Under its provisions the majors would have to take a chance on every player purchased, a thing which they do not do under the optional agreement system.

The resolution further stipulates that when a major league club releases a player to the minors all strings are cut, so that if the club releasing the player wants him back again it must bid for his services.

President Thomas J. Hickey of the American Association wants the minor league organization to withdraw from the national agreement if the major leagues turn down their demands.

President Holland of the St. Joseph (Western League) club and Joe Tinker, owner of the Columbus (American Association) club, with Tearney, will present the protest to the National Commission just as soon as they are able to secure an audience.

The minor leagues are to reclassify all their organizations, with the exception of the nine that survived last season. They also adopted a new salary limit, as follows:

Class A Leagues, $2,600 a month; Class B, $2,000; Class C, $1,400; and Class D, $1,200.

Chicago, Nov. 15. — The threat of the National Association of Baseball Leagues to withdraw from the National Commission if its demand for the abolishment of the draft of players from the minors to the majors is not met was to be discussed here today by President B. B. Johnson of the American League, and August Herrmann.

Herrmann came over from Cincinnati especially for the conference. Johnson declared early today that if the minors want a war they will get more than they are looking for. He is in a belligerent mood as a result of the draft ultimatum.

White (capt.), f.b.	f.b., Hoban (capt.)

Referee—Hugh McGrath, Boston College. Umpire—Edward F. Sherlock, Harvard. Head linesman—Charles J. McCarthy, Georgetown. Field judge—George V. Brown, B. A. A. Time of periods—15 minutes.

Soldiers Field will be no place tomorrow afternoon for a nervous man, for the sponsors of the Stadium entertainment are out to give the 35,000 prospective seat-holders a run for their money and then lots more.

The Naval Radio-Camp Devens football game will be the piece de resistance of the excellent program. The battle is to start at 2 o'clock. Every minute of the milling will be much "Uncle Samish."

A capable band of officials overflowing with football knowledge will assist at the ceremonies, and in case some over-ambitious soldier or sailor imagines for the nonce he is opposed to some husky Berlin burgher he will be quieted down.

Of course, such a big affair would not be complete without music, and bands from Devens and the Radio School are to appear on either side of the field. Radio will also offer a short special entertainment before the game.

Both cheering sections will have their singing stands and leaders. Herbert Smith of the First Naval District will be in charge of the gobs' vocal hilarities, while Ensign Russell Van Billard of the Radio School, and his home trained spark pounders, will have all sorts of novel cheers and side plays to offer.

"Sweet Navy Beans," one of Radio's travesties on "Sweet Adeline," defunct pensioner of Congressman-elect J. F. Fitzgerald, will hold a prominent spot in the chorus catalogue.

Hydroplanes from Chatham Naval Station will hover above the field, dropping "GIVE" literature, and two squads from Naval Radio School will take part in a chariot relay race between the halves of the football game.

The Radio team finished its preparation for the contest this morning. "Fit as a fiddle," summed up Gunner A. M. McMahon's terse comment of the fine condition of his charges.

Devens' team, culled from the Depot Brigade headquarters, was to finish its training for the game this afternoon. The team is husky and muscular, and ready for the issue.

Miss Sears to Play Squash for War Fund at New York Club

New York, Nov. 15.—Miss Eleonora Sears, the Boston sportswoman, will play in a squash match for the benefit of the United War Work Fund in the series of squash events to be held at the Yale Club.

Miss Sears will meet Walter Kinsella, the Squash Club professional, who is the open champion of the world. Miss Spears asks no handicap and promises a real match.

It will be the first public squash match in which a woman will take part.

Miss Sears has appeared in tennis, polo, swimming and other competitions, but this will be her debut in squash, at which she is reported to be even more expert than at tennis.

BARRY IN SHAPE, SO ALL'S WELL AT EXETER

Exeter, N. H., Nov. 15.—Exeter's football supporters see hopes of victory in tomorrow's game with Andover on Brothers Field, Andover.

It will be the fortieth annual contest between the two schools. The series stands: Andover, 18; Exeter, 16, with two ties, and three years there was no game.

With Arthur Barry back at quarter, Exeter is far stronger than when it played Hebron Academy last Saturday in its last preliminary game.

Coach Blake gave the backs a long drill in handling punts in the final practice drill. Barry, Gilroy and Kennedy all handled the pigskin well.

Exeter will have a slight advantage in weight over Andover. The official figures are: Exeter, 164; Andover, 161 pounds.

While Andover has not played as many games as Exeter this Fall, it has been able to play its regular eleven oftener, as injuries have prevented Coach Blake from using his full strength since mid-season.

Andover has a South African boy, J. K. Davis, playing guard, and it is possible Javier Molina, a Mexican, may get into the game for Exeter.

One of the features will be the presence of both school battalions and they will give exhibition drills during the intermission.

Joe Pendleton of Bowdoin, is to referee the game. W. S. Cannell of Tufts, will umpire; G. M. Bankart of Dartmouth, will be field judge, and Dave Morrey of Dartmouth head linesman.

C. A. C. WAR FUND SHOW CARD IS WEEK'S BEST

By RINGSIDE.

Boston's second War Work Carnival show, which takes place tonight at the Commercial A. C., has every indication of being the real thing in the boxing line.

Forty rounds of boxing, i. e., five eight-round bouts between boys of reputation, who have been given the word to show the best that's in them.

Matchmaker McKirdy has notified the boys that if any signs of slacking crops out in the work they will be chased out of the ring. There are plenty of other teams to take their places, he declares.

The boys have been paired as follows: Young Strona of New Bedford vs. Young Bruno of East Boston, Chick Suggs of Newport, R. I., vs. Dan McCormack of East Boston, Young Brindisi of New Haven, Ct., vs. Chick Hayes of New York, Johnny Gray of Chelsea vs. Charley Parker of the South End and Mike Paulson of St. Paul vs. Dave Powers of Malden.

Paulson and Powers will wind up the show. Mike showed some of his old-time form in his last several local starts and Dave will have to be in shape to keep pace with the good-looking blond.

Parker and Gray should put up their usual rugged battle and keep the fans on edge. McCormack is up against a good one in Suggs. Chick showed at the Arena a short time ago and made a great hit by his clever work.

Brindisi, who is a bit disappointed over not being able to meet Bobby Josephs, is not to take Hayes into camp. Strona and Bruno are another pair who promise to furnish plenty of action.

Larry Conley will referee all the bouts. The first one goes on at 8 o'clock.

The Marlboro Driving Club is also in line tonight with a ripping card, and the proceeds go to the War Work Fund. Johnny Dundee, famous Scotch Wop, is the feature attraction. He will spar five rounds each with Young Sacco of East Boston and Joe Currie of New Haven, Ct.

Other bouts between evenly matched boys will also be put on.

JOE BONDS SIGNED TO BATTLE JACK DEMPSEY

New York, Nov. 15.—Joe Bonds, Tacoma, Wash., heavyweight, will be Jack Dempsey's opponent at the United War Work Campaign boxing show in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. He's the best opponent the firm of Harvey, Coffroth & Co. could engage to have it out with the conqueror of Fred Fulton and Battling Levinsky and is not bad so far as second-raters go.

Fall-Viles Bout Tops Classy Sport Menu at Radio School

Tommy Fall, former 105-pound national boxing champion, now a bit beefier, vs. Joe Viles, 115-pound title holder, will furnish one of the tidy bouts at the Naval Radio School tournament tonight. The proceeds go to the United War Work Campaign.

Fall is in the army and Viles in the navy. Other interesting clashes should result when Chick Hayes of Radio faces Bobie of Camp Devens; Everett Bucknam of Hingham tackles Big Ben Casey of Devens, and Henry Youngberg of Radio has his 'steenth go this season with McMinnimen of Ayer.

Archie Jeanette, wireless champion, will attempt to shock Arthur Innes with one of his famous electrical charged wrestling holds. Innes, who has yet to be thrown, says it cannot be done, but Archie claims he has the prescription and will use it.

A cup fight and battle royal are other features on the menu.

WRESTLING SHOW FAILS TO HEAD OFF EXPENSES

George Tuohey's wrestling show at the Grand Opera House for the benefit of the War Work Fund failed to attract the expected jam. The receipts were $606.35 and the expenses $700, so, it can scarcely be called a howling success. The summary: Walter Evans defeated Gene Reimer, Pinky Gardner defeated Joe Miller, P. Hobbs defeated N. Manuel and R. L. McAdams and H. G. Morse, Cyclone Burns and Scotty McPhee, Charley Metro and Peter Sturgis, John Shimkus and W. Ketonis and G. Ventres and Aleck Lunstrum, drew.

Worcester won from Quincy in the Roller Polo League series, at Worcester, 7-2. Higgins and Slater paired up for the time, showed sensational form. Hart scored both of Quincy's points.

Tonight's schedule: Providence at Quincy and Cambridge at Lowell

BROWN-GREEN TO KEEP DATE ON BRAVES FIELD

All arrangements for the Brown-Dartmouth football game, which will be played at Braves Field a week from tomorrow, were settled when Horace G. Pender, graduate manager of athletics at Dartmouth, and Coach Edward Robinson of Brown, acting for Dr. Fred W. Marvel, conferred with Business Manager Hapgood. Tickets will go on sale early next week.

COLUMBIA UNABLE TO ARRANGE HARVARD GAME

New York, Nov. 15.—Columbia University's request to Harvard for a game Thanksgiving Day has been turned down by the Cambridge officials. They sent word over that the Crimson's gridiron schedule is complete. Columbia will now try to induce Cornell to come to the Polo Grounds for a battle on the holiday.

Two School Games Today

English High and Boston College High were down to clash at Fenway Park this afternoon. Winthrop High and Huntington School were to meet at Ingleside Park, Winthrop.

PURE BLOOD

From the blood all the solid tissues take their food and oxygen. Unless the blood is put in a healthy condition it affects the entire body. If you have dry, rough skin, pimples on the face, swollen tonsils, sore throat; if the joints become swollen and stiff; if you have catarrh and feel stuffed up; if you cannot eat right, think right or work right, don't delay, get Brown's Blood Treatment, $2 a bottle; lasts about a month. This remedy is expressly intended to drive out of the system all impurities and at the same time build up the red corpuscles and make pure, rich, healthy blood. DR. BROWN CO., 935 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold at Liggett's.

AT the opening night of the Park Square Coliseum. Elmer Collins of Lynn defeated Jimmy Moran of Chelsea a trifle over a lap in a fifteen-mile motor-paced race. Collins' time was 25:57 2-5. Twenty-six riders, the pick of the professionals, started in the ten-mile open. When the bell announced the final mile only seven were left. In a ding-dong finish, A. J. Clark of Australia (I'll bet that's Jackie) won over Joe Folger by a few inches. (Elmer was in great form at that time, if you recollect.)

THE six-day bike race, which has among its entries twelve fast teams, starts at the Park Square Coliseum tomorrow night. (Remember how we used to delight in seeing the boys flying around. And how we used to urge them on by offering bonuses? We didn't, but folks with money did.)

MALDEN HIGH, by defeating Melrose High, 35 to 6, won the championship of the Suburban League. Clark, Morey and Morgan starred for Malden, while Wentworth, Jones, Milliken and Stantial did great work for Melrose.

* * *

JIMMY LEE of the B. A. A. won the junior ten-mile cross-country in easy fashion at Celtic Park, New York. (We hate to speak about ourselves, but we told you he'd win.)

ONE hundred and fifteen runners took part in the Providence-to-Boston relay race, each man running a half-mile. The distance, fifty-eight miles, was covered in five hours and four minutes. (Fifty-eight miles. It seemed like a hundred and fifty-eight the day we hoofed it.)

ROLLER skating is in high favor in England and Scotland. At a recent festival 10,000 skated one evening at the Liverpool Rink. (That's a terrible lot of people to have a skate on.)

An important Mystic Valley Interscholastic Football League game was billed to be played on Spy Pond Athletic Field, Arlington, this afternoon, between Arlington High and Watertown High. Both teams are in the running for the championship and a stiffly fought battle was expected.

WEST END HOUSE GYM FIVE IS BACK ON FLOOR

The West End House Gym is going to have its usual snappy 115-pound basketball five on the floor this season, and under Sam Jakes' direction is expected to conquer all rivals. Gidez, Bomich, Whitney, Levine and Doherty are slated to be the team's regulars. For games address Manager B. Gidez, No. 45 Chambers street, Boston.

RUBE MARQUARD NAMED PILOT OF NAVAL FIVE

New York, Nov. 15.—Rube Marquard, Dodgers' southpaw, has been elected captain of the basketball team that will represent the Mine-Sweeping Division of the United States Navy in the naval tournament.

Worcester Stages Its Big Annual Gridiron Classic Saturday

Worcester, Nov. 15.—Worcester County's football classic, the Holy Cross-Worcester Tech game, is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon on Fitton Field.

The receipts will go to the United War Work drive, and there is as much rivalry between the two colleges in the box office as there is on the gridiron. Hence a huge crowd is sure to be on hand.

A band concert will take place at 1:30 o'clock, followed by a parade of the Holy Cross S. A. T. C. Between halves the 800 Holy Cross men will sing the latest war songs. Army drills will be given by both units after the game.

Plans also include the presentation of many amusing army sports, many of which have never been seen in Worcester.

TUFTS' REGULARS GOING INTO BATTLE WITH B. U.

Tufts' scrubs made little headway against the varsity in the final scrimmage with tomorrow's game with Boston University. Coach Al Pierotti planned a signal drill for late this afternoon. Captain Lincoln and all the regulars will be in position against the Back Bay athletes.

Fullback Martin, who missed the Harvard game on account of injuries, is back on deck, but will scarcely be able to play tomorrow. However, Pierotti is banking on him performing in all of Tufts' remaining battles.

NEWPORT IN WITH BID TO STAGE OLD TENNIS CLASSIC NEXT AUGUST

Newport, R. I., Nov. 15.—The Newport Casino officials will seek to have the invitation tennis tournament resumed at the Casino next August.

The tournament will be given under the auspices of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, same as in the past, if rebooked.

A committee of prominent tennis players in the Summer colony will be appointed by the governing committee of the Casino to arrange details.

B. C.'S OLD HEROES MAY GET IN FORDHAM GAME

Captain Morrisey and the five other Boston College gridiron heroes who started for a Southern cantonment early in the week are homeward bound, and hope is held out at University Heights that they will be back in time to get into tomorrow's game with Fordham.

If they are absent, Dido Falvey will go in at centre; Tom Daley, a 210-pounder from Boston College High, will be in Morrissey's guard position, and Flaherty, O'Neill, Cusick, Lyons and O'Brien will also be pressed into service.

It will be a hard matter for Fr. Meagher and Fred O'Brien to put the proper pilot at the helm. Corrigan is needed, and needed badly. If he's missing, Jim Brawley will probably start at the position.

Forward to Great Industrial Triumph!

The People of the United States Face a Glorious Opportunity for Which They Are Well Trained

Copyright, 1918, Star Company.

It is with renewed spirit and with the high confidence that would necessarily come from our magnificent victory in the world war that the people of the United States may now turn their attention to domestic problems and the upbuilding of industry and trade to the end that the heavy expenditures and the losses incurred since the war bugles first blew may be speedily recouped.

This people is in an intellectual and moral condition which fits them for such an effort for national advancement in all material things as possibly no people was ever fitted before.

During the days of the war we have learned the need for economy and the method of practicing economy. An enormous portion of our populace has been introduced for the first time to the virtues and the methods of thrift.

Where five or six years ago men dealing with the investing public estimated the number of people who made a practice of investing money to secure themselves against possible privations, or the inevitable letting down of old age at a scant half million, we found the last Liberty drive numbering among the subscribers to the loan not less than twenty-five million people.

Not all of these, of course, are going to become investors in the stock market sense of that word. But there are few Americans, or, for that matter, people of other nationalities, who have once tasted the pleasures of possession and experienced the sensation of seeing their money, even in small amounts, bringing in interest, who do not find themselves more and more inclined to save and to invest.

We think that the inculcation of this lesson in the minds of millions of our people may prove to be worth vastly more to this nation than all the expense to which it has been put by its part in the war.

When this war began we were known as the most extravagant of peoples. The idea of economy in personal expenditures for what we were accustomed to think were the necessities of life, and even for its pleasures, occurred to but few of us. The poor, in proportion to their means, were apt to be as extravagant as the rich—and next to the now happily banished Russian Grand Dukes, the American plutocrat was the most extravagant figure on the world's stage.

Under war's coercion we have learned a wiser way of life. Mr. Hoover has taught us that we should no longer live to eat, but eat to live, and that for the maintenance of life and health and of bodily comfort economy at the table is vastly better than gluttony.

In the other necessities of daily life our nation has learned the practice of economy. The extravagances of fashion have been very materially reduced, and we do not think that the American man will say that the American girl has suffered anything in charm or attractiveness by the more rigorous limitations put upon her taste for decorative drapery.

The heavy expenditures of the war, brought home to our people by the rapidly increasing income tax, higher taxes of every sort, the increased cost of living, and the patriotic duty of buying bonds, has enforced upon us a method of life more simple and less costly than that into which we were drifting before the beginning of this conflict.

Let us now see to it that these lessons which have been learned in the dread school of war shall not be forgotten. Let us continue to do voluntarily that which has been enforced upon us partly by legal authority and partly by the operation of increased costs in every department of human expenditure.

Indeed, for months to come those costs cannot be reduced. The aftermath of the war will for a time be as expensive as the war itself, although the expenditures will be on a decreasing instead of an increasing scale.

We cannot hope at once to leap from the conditions imposed by war to the normal ones of peace. But it is fair to anticipate that the pressure of official expenditures upon the people will at once begin to lighten and the high prices of commodities, due largely to scarcity of labor and of raw material, will begin to come down.

In this situation the United States, which has suffered less materially than any other nation involved in the war, should at once assume leadership in all industrial and commercial affairs.

We are going to have for the first time in nearly three-quarters of a century a merchant marine adequate to our needs and a navy to protect it as it undertakes the work of extending our trade to all the corners of the earth.

We are going to have for the first time in our national history the railroads of the country operated by the people and for the people, instead of by a privileged class for their own pocketbooks.

We shall probably find among the returning soldiers an inclination to take up those forms of employment which are productive rather than merely clerical. The life in the open air and the army activities which have involved manual labor will have undoubtedly made the sedentary indoor life of clerical positions unattractive to many of them. They will seek the farms, the mines and the factories. It is reasonable to believe that the participation of our millions of young men in the military activities of the last year will have a marked effect in checking the tendency of American youth to look with contempt upon all forms of manual labor and to seek clean-collar-and-cuff jobs at low pay to the injury of the productive industries of the land.

The United States faces a moment full of importance and promise for its future progress. It enters upon it flushed with triumph after a notable military victory. It has now to conquer the trade and industry of the world, and if our people go about it with the same energy, determination and harmony that have characterized us in the conduct of the war, the victory in this field will be equally sweeping and conclusive.

Freedom's Light

By WIN BROOKS

YE men who fought, ye men who bled and died,
Ye mothers and ye children who did pay,
Ye sons on High whom Death has crucified;
Look down upon this joyous world today.

Look down upon this world for which ye gave
Your very all for Freedom and the Right;
Ye heroes of this land—ye martyred brave,
Look down upon our Earth—ye saved the Light!

That Light for which ye died shall ever burn,
And gladden hearts which now for ye are sad;
It shines for those who ever for ye yearn;
Ye triumphed! O, look down today—be glad!

THINK THIS OVER

Helen Keller, the blind poet, author and musician, in speaking about the boys who will come home, blinded, from the war, says: "There is one consolation which the boys will discover later. When the outside world no longer fills our thoughts, with its blaze of beauty and myriad attractions, we find that the inner world has its own joys and have no idea of the treasure hidden away in their natures."

If you are in a position where your eyes are in danger protect yourself as well as possible, but if this greatest of all afflictions does come get this beautiful spirit of optimism which can see beyond actual affliction in such a way as to make it a blessing.

"Explore" your own minds. Do not be satisfied with the thoughts of yesterday.

Hidden treasures, wonderful and alluring—have you discovered what you have in your own mind?

Helen Keller does not sit and weep. She explores her own mind and has found the hidden treasures which she not only enjoys herself, but adds to the world's enjoyment.

I THANK you,

WHY WORRY WHEN YOU CAN BE HAPPY?

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

"Dear Mrs. Woodrow—Will you please tell me how to stop worrying? My friends say that I am a born worrier, and I am afraid that it is true. I try my best to be cheerful and happy, but it doesn't do much good. In spite of myself, I am blue and depressed and constantly fearing that something bad is going to happen to me or to those I love. I do not want to go on this way, and I would like you to tell me if there is anything I can do to improve my spirits, for I know that this disposition to worry is growing on me. My health is good and so are my finances. Thanking you very much for any advice you can give me. Sincerely, "E. V."

IN other words, my dear E. V., you want to get out of the prison that you yourself have builded. Well, in the first place, don't think that you have some dreadful task before you, and that stone by stone and with infinite labor you will have to tear down those dreary walls in which you have enclosed yourself. Instead, just quietly but firmly determine to transform your prison into a palace. Why not? All things are possible.

Why are you condemning yourself to imprisonment for life? Surely you are not superstitious enough to believe that there is some malign power in the universe which sentences you to misery. And why do you worry? Because you have formed the habit of doing so. And now it is the easiest thing in the world for you to follow the line of least resistance and keep on.

Look on the Bright Side

But this minute take the stand that you are going to wipe anxiety off the slate forever, and begin to form the habit of looking on the bright side, and expecting the most delightful things to happen.

Of course it is easier said than done, but anything in this world can be accomplished by persistence. When you fall down hard, don't begin to moan and say, "I am worrying twice as much as I did before I tried not to worry." Take it lightly and admit: "I have had another awful worrying spree, but what of it? I'll make a fresh start."

Quote Browning to yourself: "I hold we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better, sleep to wake."

It was my sad fate to be thrown recently with a woman who views life through the darkest of blue glasses. There is no reason for it, for she has everything that most persons desire. But if the sun shines, the glare hurts her eyes. And if it rains, she is afraid she will take cold. She doesn't want to talk of anything but morbid and depressing subjects, and she uses the words "horrible," "dreadful," "awful" more times that I would like to count.

We drove through the woods, one of those lovely, soft October days when the world lies in a dream of beauty; and, all she could say about it was that the Autumn always made her feel so sad. It depressed her unutterably to see falling leaf and fading tree on every side.

I tried to cheer her up by pointing out the triumphant scarlets and golds of the maples, the magnificent russets of the oak leaves, the wistful blue of the sky. But she replied that her chauffeur was a very reckless driver and didn't half see, and the probabilities were that we would never get home alive.

A Feminine Puzzle

I'm glad she couldn't read my thoughts. I was wondering why in a world where brave men were tossing away their lives with light, high heroism, this perfectly trivial woman should spend all her time in attempting to preserve her quite unnecessary carcass?

Your Mind Stops Work.
It Gets Too Much.
The Harness Maker's Job.
Will the Harness Hold?

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1918.)

After a certain number of things happen, the mind ceases to receive impressions.

Ravaillac laughed while they were breaking him on the wheel, for murdering Henry the Fourth. The torturer and the judges, surprised that a man should laugh while his legs were being broken, suspended operations. Ravaillac explained that after the first two or three blows, breaking the bones, he had ceased to feel any sensation. They managed, however, to reawaken sensation before they finally killed him.

So it is with the man who reads history that is being made now at the rate of a hundred volumes every half-hour.

You receive so many impressions, try to digest so much, that no matter what happens you hardly notice it.

The Kaiser is in exile, a broken man, locked up in the castle of a friend in Holland. The Dutch Queen would like to receive him, for royalties stick together, but she does not dare.

Skipping to the next column you read that the Crown Prince is murdered. Ten hours later you read that his murder is not confirmed.

Sweden and Denmark request their rulers to get off the throne.

The President is going abroad, taking some advisers with him to assist in the peace conference.

You say, "That's a good idea, he's the man to go." You even approve when you hear that he is taking Elihu Root with him, saying to yourself, "If there is anything lying around that a client of Root's ought to have or can get, Root will get it for him. He will be useful, with the United States for his client."

You are especially pleased to hear that Brandeis of the Supreme Court may go as one of the President's advisers.

The influence of Judge Brandeis, one of the strongest minds in this country, will help to provide protection for the Jews of Russia and other parts of the East, threatened with the horrors of massacre.

Perhaps the President has that in mind, in selecting Brandeis to go with him.

About the time you finish congratulating the United States on Woodrow Wilson's willingness to be the real American at the peace table, you hear that important Americans, including the Republican majority in the new Congress, think he ought to stay at home.

Then you move over to the right hand corner of the newspaper front page and read about the organization of a Socialistic government to replace the autocratic government of the German Empire—and to include all that is German in the Austrian Empire.

In five minutes you read enough to make the beginning of the French revolution seem a commonplace affair.

A harness maker by trade is the Prime Minister, also Minister of the Interior and of Military Affairs. His name is Frederick Ebert. You see his photograph, a strong, rough face, the sunken eyes of a man who has done much thinking. You know that you are looking at one who has dealt with serious problems, while bending over his leather.

Very interesting this harness maker—will he be able to harness up the revolutionary powers of Germany, drive them and make government out of chaos?

You know that in Germany even a harness maker is apt to be a well-educated man. When he was a boy they crammed into him all the education that he could possibly be made to contain in a given number of years.

You read of the others that strive to make a German government as the Hohenzollerns scatter.

Herr Lansberg is Minister of Publicity, Art and Literature. With one-half the world apparently going to the devil, with Bolshevism driving, the German Social Democrats include publicity, art and literature in their government scheme.

It makes you think of an artist, painting on porcelain as he drifts toward the edge of Niagara Falls.

Richard Barth is Minister of "Social Policy." You have plunged head first into one very interesting chapter of history, dealing with the attempt of human beings to galvanize human ideas and make them walk as government. The birth of the German republic occurs before your eyes. Will it live?

You see the Bolshevist idea spreading in Europe, as rapidly as did the Spanish influenza. You know that with the probable exception of England and the doubtful exception of Italy, there will not be a monarch on any European throne six months from now. But you take it all very quietly. Like Ravaillac you are being broken on the wheel of history, and after the first few blows, the murder of the Czar, the Bolshevik explosion, the exile of the Kaiser, you hardly notice a little thud, as some minor king topples over backwards and "bites the dust" of history.
